

LET THE SPIRIT OF '76
BE THE SPIRIT OF '36,
SAYS MAJOR BIDDLEAmerican War Ace Addresses
Meeting Held At
Cornwells

OTHER NOTED SPEAKERS

Republicans From Bensalem
Township Crowd Into St.
Charles AuditoriumCharles Grakelow To Speak at Trevoze Park

Among the list of well-known speakers who will be heard at the monstrous Republican rally to be held in the auditorium at the Penn Valley Park, Trevoze, Friday evening, is the Hon. Charles Grakelow, a nationally recognized orator and keen student of public affairs. Mr. Grakelow is well fitted to talk on the present issues because of his close contacts and extensive travels, both in this country and abroad.

Other speakers on the evening program which begins at eight p. m. are Theodore Gardner, William Ditter, Hubert Horan and J. Leslie Kilcoyne. Special entertainment and refreshments will be served following the talks. Every Republican and every American in this section is invited to be present at the auditorium this Friday evening. The auditorium is located just a short distance east of the intersection of the old Lincoln Highway and Street Road.

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 29.—The wastes, the attempt to throttle business, the attempt to arouse class hatred, and the lack of consideration of every American principle for which the United States ever stood, by the present New Deal Administration were soundly thrashed and denounced last evening when approximately 300 Bensalem Republicans met in the St. Charles Auditorium here to listen to addresses expressing the soldier's, the lawyer's, and the businessman's viewpoint of the Democratic administration.

Among the noted speakers to talk to the aroused audience were: Major Charles J. Biddle, Andalusia, World War ace of aviation; J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Bristol lawyer; Hubert Horan, Jr., Philadelphia attorney; and Stanley Carey, president of the Carey Chemical Co. of Darby, Pa. William McKenna, local young Republican leader, opened the meeting and greeted the assembly and then he turned the meeting over to the chairman of the evening, Mr. Kilcoyne.

Major Biddle took up his wings once more last evening, not to fight the German Hun, but to fight the insidious evil of the present Administration. With the exception of a few short remarks in Bristol recently, this marks the first real political speech that Major Biddle has ever found it necessary to make.

"There are just five days left to make your friends see the light," the Major said.

Continued on Page Four

WHAT INTELLIGENT
ANIMALS!

(By "The Stroller")

Standing at the corner of Jefferson avenue and Wood street, this morning, I did not realize it was so cold until gazing at the bird bath on the lawn of Charles Moerman's home at that intersection.

I beheld four or five sparrows taking their morning dip—at least they tried to. It appears that a solid cake of ice topped the bath tub making their ablutions unsuccessful. They apparently were at a loss to discover the cause of their disappointment. Then a bright idea seemed to strike one of them. In a nearby tree lives a pair of woodpeckers. A lone sparrow flew over to them apparently to enlist their valuable services. After some feathery discussion it dawned on them that the "peckers" services were required to punch holes in the ice. Well, after a dozen futile attempts they gave it up as a bad job.

Things were looking gloomy until one of the dozens of squirrels, which inhabit the neighborhood gazed down on the birds from his perch on one of the electric cables which are stretched along Wood street. Remembering where he had buried a peach stone he hurried to the spot and digging it out he clambered to the top of the bird bath. Bouncing this hard substance up and down on the ice in a short time water oozed through and the birds got their bath.

As I was getting on the bus I saw all the birds standing up in their tub giving the squirrel a rising vote of thanks.

TIDES AT BRISTOL

High water 1.28 a. m.
Low water 8.38 a. m.; 9.10 p. m.

Two Cars Collide Here;
One Woman Slightly Hurt

The driver of a car which figured in an accident at Dorrance and Pond streets, last night, left the scene of the accident, according to the police.

The police, however, it is stated, have the name of the driver and a warrant is to be issued for his arrest. The car operated by the driver who left the scene and a car operated by John Paglione, 340 Penn street, collided.

One car was overturned and Miss Mary Tamburello, Dorrance street, sustained a cut of the right elbow. She was treated at the Harriman Hospital where she was taken by the Bucks County Rescue Squad.

MOTORISTS INDIGNANT
OVER 20-MILE LIMITEstablished in Open-Country
Section of New Four-Lane
Lincoln Highway

CONSTABLE PATROLS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29.—Motorists are registering indignant complaints with the Keystone Automobile Club about the establishment of a 20-mile speed limit on an open-country section of the new four-lane Lincoln Highway.

The borough of Langhorne Manor recently erected 20-mile speed limit signs, and a uniformed constable patrols the posted section, one-half mile in length "cracking down" on motorists who drive at a speed that is legal and proper on the remaining 5½ miles of the new road, which extends from the northern terminus of Roosevelt Boulevard to the intersection with State Route 213.

J. Maxwell Smith, general manager of the club, declared the establishment of the 20-mile zone is not only unreasonable, but definitely without legal authority.

"There we have a great, wide highway built through open country at heavy cost to the motorist taxpayers," he said. "Because the highway traverses part of a borough, the local authorities seek to limit the speed of motor cars to 20 miles per hour."

"In our opinion, the posting of 20-mile limit signs is without legal authority because the law provides that such signs may be erected only in business or residence districts. Obviously, it will not be contended that the section posted is a business district. The definition of 'residence district' in the Vehicle Code disposes of any claim that the section is residential within the meaning of the law."

"Residence district" is defined in the code as follows: "The territory contiguous to a highway, not comprising a business district, when the frontage on such highway for a distance of three hundred feet or more is closely built up with dwellings or by dwellings and buildings in use for business."

"There is no more reason for limitation of speed in the open country through Langhorne Manor than there is in the open country elsewhere."

ARRANGE PARTY

A Halloween social has been arranged for tomorrow evening at eight o'clock, in Bracken Post home. The affair is for enjoyment of members of Robert W. Bracken Post and their wives, and women of the American Legion Auxiliary and their husbands. The men and women are asked to mask for the function. Prizes are to be awarded for costumes; and dancing and refreshments will be indulged in.

They Cry for Bread and Get a Ship Canal

It is a far cry from the Florida ship canal to the loaf of bread on the family table, and yet—is it so far?

Perhaps you have noticed the rising cost of bread in the last three years. That's the rising tide of taxes in the loaf following the wake of the now abandoned canal and the steady outward flow of billions from the United States Treasury for other equally impractical projects. The New Deal you see, has a secret drainage canal from your pocketbook to Washington. The tax in the price of bread helps to keep the Washington reservoir supplied.

You may think that the flour manufacturer and the baker pay the taxes. That is what Roosevelt wants you to think. The flour manufacturer simply charges the baker more for his flour and the baker charges you more for your bread.

Nothing new about this. In the days of John, King of England, John squeezed the barons and the barons squeezed the people. Now we're not quite so open about it. We try to make people believe that only the rich suffer from government extravagance. But it is still the old "squeeze."

Another slice of bread? That loaf could have six more slices in it except for the taxes Mary paid on it. There are 58 taxes in every loaf of bread, you know. The interest on a $200 savings account won't pay taxes on your daily bread.

Let's call the roll:

The Farmers: Present! I pay SEVEN taxes in that loaf.

Grain Elevator: Here, put me down for TEN.

Flour Mill: Chalk up EIGHT for me.

Railroad: Add ELEVEN more for me.

Flour Truck: SEVEN up.

Baker: Don't forget my NINE.

Retailer: And my SIX.

Consumer: I pay ALL FIFTY-EIGHT.

Tax Collector: All present. Company disband. Fork over, Mary.

If you're tired of "squeeze"—

VOTE FOR LANDON AND KNOX.

WHO AM I?

I am one of the millions of American children who will have to pay a share of the Public Debt of the United States of America, created by the New Dealers and amounting to nearly 34 billion dollars,—a debt which AMOUNTS TO MORE THAN THE TOTAL DEPOSITS OF ALL OF THE NATIONAL BANKS IN THIS COUNTRY.

My daddy and every other little girl's daddy will be taxed and taxed to pay this debt and when I, and every other little boy and girl in the United States get old enough to be taxed WE WILL PAY OUR SHARE OF THE NEW DEAL WASTE AND EXTRAVAGANCE.

In the meanwhile, my daddy must pay to the Government 20 cents out of every dollar he earns to pay his taxes and that means he can not give me and my brothers and sisters and my mamma the things he would like to give us. We will have less toys, and clothing and good food as we grow up.

And that is not all. Beginning next January my daddy must pay the Roosevelt made tax of 1% which his boss must take from his pay envelope every week and send to Washington. And that tax grows and grows until it is 3% of his wages.

My oldest brother Dick had his heart set on being an electrical engineer, but my daddy said the other day, he didn't know how he could send him to college, as the Tax Collector got the greater part of what Dick should have for his education.

My daddy is also worried about his life insurance policy if Mr. Roosevelt is elected again, as he is sure we will have inflation like they had in Germany where the value of life insurance policies were wiped out.

There is nothing we can do about the debt the New Deal has saddled on us,—it will have to be paid, but there is some-

Continued on Page Four

LOWER MAKEFIELD GIVES
RECORDS OF PUPILSList Those Who Were Neither Late Nor Tardy During
First Six Weeks

MANY ARE ON THE LIST

YARDLEY, Oct. 29.—The following pupils of Lower Makefield School were neither absent nor tardy during the first six weeks of the school term:

Grade one, Eliza Powell, Samuel Pagels, James Burns, John Aikens, Walter Aikens, Lester Leedom, Lee Marsh, Louis Jammer, Frank Carlson, Edward Rupprecht, Norman Worthington, Beverly Titus, Elizabeth Joulke, Dolores Wall, Ella Jones, Carolyn Hollingsworth, Elsie Scheese, Jean Locke; grade two, Robert Hollingsworth, William Church, Tom Comly, Arthur Dansbury, Clarence Comly.

Continued on Page Six

ANDALUSIA GIRL SCOUTS
HAVE BIG PARTY TONIGHTHallowe'en Affair To Be Given by Lone Star
Troop

WEEK OF CELEBRATION

ANDALUSIA, Oct. 29.—The height of the celebration of Girl Scout week by the Lone Star Troop will be reached this evening when the Scouts hold their Hallowe'en party at the Cabin on Bristol Pike. Decorations will be placed this afternoon.

The official observance of the week was begun last Saturday. The decorating committee, composed of Lois Lange, Pauline Fries, Jeanne Stackhouse and May Early bought the decorations and also the prizes which will be awarded this evening.

On Sunday the Scouts, in a group, attended the Baptist Church. The girls were in full uniform and among those present were: Joan Hicks, Betty Rahn, Pauline Fries, Muriel Hornickel, Beatrice Fries, Barbara Engle, Clara Fries, Dorothy Ferguson, Lois Lange, Ethel Hartman, Jeanne Stackhouse, Elizabeth Anderson, Margaret Armstrong, Margaret Pickersgill, Gloria Freas, Mrs. Bloch, chairman of the troop committee, and Captain E. May Early.

Monday afternoon a group of the girls took part in a number of dances at the Cabin. Nine were present. On Tuesday, 16 of the girls made lanyards at the Cabin. And on Wednesday a tea was given the troop committee at the home of Mrs. William Still. Lois Lange, Renee Wendkos and Marie Still were the scouts who composed the tea committee.

Following the party tonight there will be one more event in the official observance of the week. That will be a hike to a nearby airport this Saturday.

Masquerade Party Enjoyed
By Members of S. S. Class

Sunday School Class No. 18, Bristol Methodist Church, taught by Mrs. Jack Lynn, held a Hallowe'en party Tuesday evening in the Sunday School room. The members invited friends and many were masked.

Prizes were given for costumes to: Eliza Mitchener, fancy dress; Elizabeth Coombs, most original; Jennie Lamb, comic. Hallowe'en games were played and prizes given to Gwendolyn Hayden, Mary Ann Duffy and Naomi Davidson. Others attending: Molly Wright, Margaretta Duffy, Muriel Stauffer, Mrs. Lynn, Mrs. Russell Booz, Hazel White.

Refreshments were served.

Joseph Wilkinson, Sr.,
Entertains His Family

Joseph Wilkinson, Sr., Pond street, entertained his daughters, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, Sunday. The affair was given to celebrate the birthdays of Mrs. Anna Wilkinson, Pond street, and Mrs. Carl Winch, Trenton, N. J. Supper was served and the evening spent in a social way.

Those attending: Mr. and Mrs. William Hensor and daughter Gloria, Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs. George Patterson and children, Mrs. Frank Setty, Morrisville; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Winch and daughter, Trenton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Delaney and family, Mayfair; Mrs. Catharine White and children, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilkinson, Jr., Mrs. Anna Wilkinson, Bristol; Mr. and Mrs. Harry White and son, Burlington, N. J.

COUNTY LIBRARY ASS'N
REPORTS ACTIVITIESMany Sections Represented
At Meeting in Langhorne
On Tuesday

MISS MATTHEW'S SPEAKS

LANGHORNE, Oct. 29.—Activities of the libraries connected with the Bucks County Library Association were reviewed at the semi-annual meeting of the county organization held Tuesday in the Langhorne Library, here.

Morning and afternoon sessions were in charge of the president, Mrs. Chester Eisenbrauer, of Glenside. During the morning session Mrs. Thomas Allen, Langhorne, gave a brief address of welcome and read extracts of the by-laws of the former Attleboro Library. The response to the address of welcome was given by Mrs. Eisenbrauer.

Mrs. Howard A. Clymer, Chalfont, secretary and treasurer, announced a balance of $15.25, and stated that there had been a contribution of $2. Money in the treasury is used for the purchase of cards and flowers for ill members of the county association. At the meeting yesterday it was decided to send cards and flowers to three members, Mrs. F. H. Byran, a former director of the Langhorne Library; Miss Virginia Morris, librarian of the North Wales Library, and Mrs. Edgar Waldeman, a director of the Mary H. Walter Memorial Library, Eureka.

Reports of the activities of the libraries were given during the roll call which followed the business session. Representatives of the Fallsington Li-

Continued on Page Five

Invites All Clergymen To Meet Here Monday Evening

A meeting of all the clergymen of Bristol and surrounding communities will be held Monday evening, at seven o'clock, in the Bristol M. E. Church. Every minister interested in the National Preaching Mission is urged to be present.

"Plans have been made for a Two-Day Preaching Mission to be held in Bristol. In order to make this a success a great deal of preparation will be necessary. Each pastor is asked to bring one or two lay representatives from his church, if possible. Details as to plans will be made known at this meeting so that we can work together with a common understanding. The meeting will be held in the parlors of the Methodist Episcopal Church, corner of Mulberry and Cedar streets."

"It is hoped that every minister who reads this will take it as a personal invitation. The meeting will be short because of other meetings later in the evening. But it is very important that all churches be represented in this endeavor," stated Rev. N. L. Davidson, pastor of Bristol M. E. Church, today.

PACKING NEW DEAL PROPAGANDA FOR PARTY; MAP MAKING PROJECT
DELAYED; WORK DONE AT BINGLER'S HOTEL

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 29.—Where are the PWA workers who are supposed to be engaged on a project at the court house today?

The answer:

Down at Charley Bingler's hotel at Furlong—the "Boniface" of that inn being as many Bucks Countians know by this time, one of the high priests of the New Deal activities in building up the Democratic machine in this county.

And what are they doing?

Well, one thing is certain, they are not digging out facts from county records in preparation for the map-making they are supposed to be engaged on at the court house.

What they are doing, it was learned, is—packing Democratic campaign literature to be distributed over the week-end to the voters.

Ordinarily, campaign jobs like this are done by persons paid specially from party campaign war chests raised by private subscriptions.

25 ROOSTERS CROW
THEIR BEST TO WIN
A PRIZE OF $100Christen Winner "Franklin Deficit Roosevelt" After
Contest is Over

IS NOW ON DISPLAY

Second and Third Loudest Get
$10 Each; Bantam,
$5.00

By Staff Correspondent

NEWTOWN, Oct. 29.—"I christen thee Franklin Deficit Roosevelt!"

These were the words of Miss Maryanna Jamison, as water from the Passamaquoddy Dam was sprinkled from a watering-can onto the "loudest crowler in America" this morning, on the porch of Mark Granite's country store, on Newtown's main street.

A crowd of 100, men, women and children, who found it not at all difficult to arrive at an early hour and be present for the long-awaited ceremony following the selection of the "crow-iest" rooster in the United States, loudly cheered as the "rite" took place, at nine o'clock.

Then the Newtown Band struck up the strains of "Crowing Days Are Here Again" or as Mr. Granite expressed it "Or they will be next Tuesday for us Republicans."

"What kind of a bird is it?" came a voice from the audience in Newtown's main street. "Well-I-I," drawled Mark Granite, "he has the chassis of a white Plymouth Rock, or he may be a white wyandotte . . . but he has a good crow to him anyway."

The winning rooster is owned by Walter Ellis, Newtown R. D. No. 1. To Mr. Ellis, who was not present at this morning's ceremony, Mr. Granite will present a check for $100. Some member of the jolly crowd on hand

Continued on Page Three

TWO MEN HURT

Lewis Carena, 119 W. 62nd street, New York, has a laceration over the left eye, and small cut of the left hand; and Frank Stozzone, Ft. Washington, N. Y., has laceration over the right eye, as the result of a collision between their truck and another automobile yesterday. The two were treated at Harriman Hospital.

PLAN BAKE SALE

A bake sale will be conducted Saturday, between the hours of ten a. m. and two p. m., in Winter's show-room, Mill and Wood streets. The Junior Travel Club is the sponsor.

BURIAL PRIVATE

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 29.—Funeral service for the late Charles B. Gilbert, who died suddenly Tuesday, will be held tomorrow at two p. m., from his late home here, relatives and friends being invited. Interment will be private. Friends may call this evening between the hours of seven and nine.

CUT OVER EYE

Albert Dennis, 210 Mill street, has a laceration over the right eye, two stitches being taken in the wound at Harriman Hospital. The child fell over a bicycle it is stated.

PARTY ENJOYED

Sunday School Class, No. 12, First Baptist Church, taught by Miss Mildred Dyer, held a ghost party Tuesday evening at Miss Dyer's home, Washington street. A contest was held trying to guess each ghost. Game prizes were given to Joan Angus, Margaret Allen, June Allman. Also present were June Hens and Theresa Hamilton.

EMILIE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Kennett Square; Mrs. Laura Pope, Paulsboro, N. J.; Mrs. Lydia Lodge and daughter Harriet, Fallsington, were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. William Rockhill.

Mrs. E. M. Young spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Stanford, Jr., West Chester.

This Strange New Deal

Under the New Deal farm program one corporation, the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, Ltd., received $1,022,037 for not raising sugar.

"The benefits which will be paid under our program will go no higher than the production level of the family type of farm."—Gov. Alf M. Landon, July 23, 1936.

The Bristol Courier

Established 1910
Published Every Evening (except Sunday) at 100 West 1st St., Bristol, Pa. Phone 846
Only Daily Paper in Lower Bucks County

BRISTOL PRINTING COMPANY
Owner and Publisher
Incorporated May 27, 1914
Nerrill D. Decker, Managing Editor
Ellis E. Batcliffe, Secretary
Subscription Price per Year, in advance, $3.00; Six Months, $1.50; Three Months, 75c.
The Courier is delivered by carrier in Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge-water, Croyston, Andalusia, West Bristol, Hulmeville, Bath Addition, New-ville and Torresdale Manor for six cents a week.

JOB PRINTING
The Courier has the most complete commercial printing department in Bucks County. Work of any description promptly and satisfactorily done.
Entered as Second Class Mail matter at the Post Office at Bristol, Pa.

"International News Service has the exclusive rights to use for republication in any form all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper. It is also exclusively entitled to use for republication all the local and national news published herein."

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1936

The Republican Ticket

President
Alfred M. Landon
Vice-President
Colonel Frank Knox
State Treasurer
Frank L. Pinola
Auditor General
E. Arthur Sweeney
Member of Congress
Theodore R. Gardner
Assembly
Thomas B. Stockham
Wilson L. Yeakey

HOW YOUR MONEY IS SPENT

When a Big New Deal meets a Little New Deal almost anything can happen that will get rid of the taxpayers' money in a hurry.

That is the record established in Pennsylvania by the combination of the Earle Administration at Harrisburg and the Roosevelt Administration at Washington.

During the fiscal year ending May 31, 1934, the last full fiscal year before the advent of the Guffey-Earle Administration, cash disbursements from the state's operating funds amounted to $233,885,247. During the year ending May 31, 1936, the first full fiscal year under Governor Earle's Little New Deal, the expenditures from the same funds increased to $290,746,045.

The increase of $57,000,000 in the expenditure of state funds and federal funds allocated to the state occurred during a period when Pennsylvania's unemployment relief population was decreasing rapidly. As compared with the peak totals of persons on direct relief during the fiscal year 1934 (from June 1, 1933, to May 31, 1934) the State Emergency Relief Board rolls were reduced, first, by increased employment in private industry and, later, by great shifts from direct relief to WPA.

In view of the $49,000,000 in disbursements for unemployment relief, the following figures from the official reports of the State Emergency Relief Board are pertinent.

During the fiscal year 1934 the number of persons on relief ranged from 1,940,085 in June, 1933, to 1,406,955 in May, 1934. The totals include work relief handled by the SERB, in other words, all those persons receiving state or federal money through the SERB.

During the fiscal year 1936 the number of persons receiving state-federal money through the SERB ranged from 1,649,386 in June, 1935, to 582,079 on May 31, 1936.

JOIN THE RED CROSS

The annual membership drive of the American Red Cross is again under way and this is one drive in which nobody is asked twice to join, nor should a second invitation be necessary.

The Red Cross is so prompt in answering the call of distress in every major disaster that most people have come to regard the service it renders as something automatic, like the response of the firefighters when the alarm sounds.

But the Red Cross is financed entirely by memberships. For one dollar you are a member for one year, and nowhere else does a dollar buy so much. America needs the Red Cross and it hasn't a single failure to its record. When the call comes the Red Cross responds.

The Red Cross is calling for members to enable it to carry on its work for another twelve months. Join.

INTERESTING NEWS ITEMS OF NEARBY TOWNS

LANGHORNE

Miss Clara Tomlinson, West Chester, and Mrs. A. T. Cornway, Drexel Hill, were Saturday callers of their uncle, Frederick B. Tomlinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn J. Harrington entertained friends from Los Angeles, Cal., Sunday.

The November meeting of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Floyd C. Marlatt, on the 10th. Hostesses will be Mrs. Marlatt, Mrs. James B. Rudhart, Mrs. Wilmer S. Black, Mrs. Arthur H. Hellyer and Mrs. George C. Mather.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meredith and son "Billy" who have been living in Washington, D. C., for several years, will return to their home on North Bellevue avenue.

Horace J. Palmer has issued invitations to his friends for Sunday afternoon, November 1st, from four to six, at his home on East Maple avenue.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new house of John Fabian, Hulmeville and Gilman avenues.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bopp, Mahanoy City, spent the week-end with relatives in Landwell and Langhorne.

The Roppelt sisters, Morrisville, and John Benflecker, Bristol, will give a musical program next Sunday evening in the Presbyterian Church. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tomlinson, Willow Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Tomlinson, Germantown; Miss Edith Comly and Mrs. Thomas Biddle and sons William and James, Bustleton, were all Sunday guests of Mayanna B. Tomlinson and Tazetta T. Simpson.

YARDLEY

Nearly 700 persons were served at the Yardley Fire Company, No. 1 chicken supper, held in I. O. O. F. Hall, Saturday evening.

Charles Fred Cook is confined to his home by illness.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Leedom included: Mr. and Mrs. Carlton E. Rich, Doylestown; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clark, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pinker, Germantown; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nagle, and children, Haddonfield; Mr. and Mrs. T. Hazard, Fox Chase.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lowmesbury, Frankford, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Carlton R. Leedom.

Miss Marie Francis was hostess to members of her Sunday School class, Tuesday evening. Miss Marjorie Cadwallader is instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bruins and sons,

Henry and Stewart, Baltimore, Md., have returned after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Willard Francis.

Miss Elizabeth S. Weeks has returned to Yardley after spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Carlton R. Rich, Doylestown.

EMILIE

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lessig had as recent guests, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moore, New York; Miss Emma Brendel, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Yeager, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob C. Schmidt, Jr., Bristol.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hibbs and family were Saturday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pitman, Edgely.

Miss Dorothy McSherry, Edgely, was a Wednesday evening guest of Miss Alma Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barth, Philadelphia, were Thursday visitors of Miss Eva Stephen.

Miss Dorothy Lovett entertained her Sunday School class, Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Demont, Lincoln, N. J., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Prevost.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Prevost and family and Mrs. E. M. Young were recent guests of Dr. and Mrs. Prevost, Port Providence.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis V. Cox had as re-

"Sweepstakes on Love"

by MAY CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS

Diana Darlington, of a socially prominent, though impoverished, family, loves the eligible young bachelor, Roger Dexter, but what chance had she when the fabulously wealthy Regina Hyde had set her cap for him? Regina always got everything she wanted. Although Roger's family enjoyed a social prestige far above Regina's, she made up for it by the lavishness of her parties and her debut was to be the last word in extravagance.

CHAPTER II

Not many of Regina's invitations had been turned down, so skillfully had she herself (via her friends) advertised her debut.

She began to talk about it now, over the fried chicken and corn cakes of the luncheon at the Turf and Club.

"I expect you to partner me, of course, Roger."

Diana thought: "She would! She wants him, just as I thought. She could have got Toddy Van Tyle—a far better name—or the Renssler boy—or even that cousin of the Vanderbilts that she's been making such a play for—but it's Roger she wants, and she'll get him!"

Roger took it with his usual nonchalance.

Why wouldn't he, the way the girls ran after him? It was sickening!

She was dead tired of them all—tired of having to keep up a front when there was no back, of having to scrimp and save and pinch every penny.

If it were not for Genevieve, she would get a job. She would make herself independent.

But Genevieve was determined on her daughter making her bow to Society, as befitting a Darlington. There would be no difficulty in getting in the guests. Only the where-withal was a problem.

To hear Regina talk airily of the elaborate preparations for her own debut was, in the circumstances... and doubly so because of Roger... piercingly disturbing.

Looking at Roger as though his opinion was the only one that counted, Regina was saying: "I'm thinking of having the big ballroom at the Monarch transformed into a kind of a forest for the evening. I can have loads of trees shipped up from the South. Don't you think it would be rather fun, Roger? Little winding paths with real moss and flowers and ferns growing all 'round the ballroom? Kind of original, isn't it?"

"I should say it's a jolly old pipkin of an idea, my dear Regina!" broke in Clarence Thyme, an impetuous hanger-on from Fair Albion. "I shall jolly well come in a leopard skin and a flute, with grapes in my hair, and chase the nymphs thro' the woodland glades—"

"The grapes are under your belt and not in your hair! You've drunk too much, old boy," contributed Roger, grinning.

"That gives me an idea," said Regina. "We could have real grape arbors with seats under them—like the peasants have in Italy. I remember being so struck with it when he motored from Rapallo to Viareggio all along the Mediterranean. I adored seeing the natives eat their spaghetti—dining out in the open with the grapes hanging over their heads."

"Ear-wrecking!" shrugged Phyllis, a dark-browed, supercilious girl who had burst upon Society with no fireworks or proposals three years ago, and who secretly disliked Regina for having the things she never had, or would have.

"Bacchanalianism! I'd love it. Go to it, Regina!" chirruped Clarence. "It's a darling idea," said Maude, who applauded her hostess's every least remark, since being a stooge was profitable.

"But with all the trick scenery, would there be any space left for us to dance?" Diana asked, with a little pang of envy.

"Loads!" shrugged Regina. "We're engaging a second ballroom—you know—the smaller one—and having a special Tzigane orchestra there for the night. Then there'll be two orchestras in the main ballroom, to relieve each other, so there'll be continuous dancing if we want it. Supper will be at twelve, as usual, but we're having a special room for breakfast—sort of Bohemian style—with a man playing the concertina—like in a little Paris boite!"

Diana had never been to Paris. Her mother had desperately wanted her to have a year there, at a finishing-school at Saint Cloud where the "best" girls in New York were sent to have their manners and their French polished. But money, as usual, was lacking.

Not that Diana minded in the least staying at home. She was fond of Genevieve, although their characters were dissimilar. Which made thing rather trying, although Diana did her best. Genevieve did not mind matters when it came to advising her young daughter, matrimonially speaking. "We're as poor as church mice, Diana. You must marry quickly, and you must marry money. If you can get family and background along with money, so much the better. Somehow or other, we'll contrive a debut for you, darling. But you must not let the grass grow under your feet!"

Genevieve approved of Roger Dexter. Considering her uncertainty of him, it was painful for Diana to hear so much of Roger, these pre-debut days.

Luncheon ended, they went to the paddock to have a look at the horses. Regina's father had an entry, "Gangster Boy." He was a fine animal. After inspecting him, they all went to the bookies who were accepting bets near the grandstand. The odds on "Gangster Boy" were ten to one. Diana placed her five dollar bet on him. Roger wagered five hundred. He could well afford it. Regina ditto, but not on her father's horse—on a raking named "Hoopa!" where the odds were four to one.

They all went into the Enclosure where they had a row of cane chairs. It was a kaleidoscope of color and movement.

Roger was seated between Diana and Regina. The latter was hailed by many people, so that her attention was diverted from Roger. He turned his dark eyes on Diana. There was a warm and shiny light in them as he surreptitiously caught her gloved hand under the far edge of her short smart coat and challenged her gayly.

"If we win, Diana, my tip on our bet must be repaid by five dances this evening. Okay with you?"

"Okay," she contrived to answer casually, though her soul was singing with joy. She prayed "Gangster Boy" would win. He must win.

The starter gave the signal. A buzz of excitement rose among the spectators as the horses bounded forward, the sheen of their coats and the bright satins of the jockeys gleaming in the sun.

"Gangster Boy" is leading!" gasped Diana, her eyes glued to the field-glasses Roger had loaned her, and her heart palpitating.

Regina had jumped to the seat of her chair and was teetering so precariously that Roger had to jump up too and hold her arm, for fear she would fall.

On flew the horses. Quarter 'round the course now. "Gangster Boy" still leading. Halfway 'round. A second horse was gradually appearing him. Only a length behind him now. The two animals maintained that distance for another quarter. Then the second was neck-and-neck with the first. The crowd yelled and applauded. Diana trembled.

"Hoopa!" screamed Regina, clutching Roger.

Not that Diana minded in the least staying at home. She was fond of Genevieve, although their characters were dissimilar. Which made thing rather trying, although Diana did her best. Genevieve did not mind matters when it came to advising her young daughter, matrimonially speaking. "We're as poor as church mice, Diana. You must marry quickly, and you must marry money. If you can get family and background along with money, so much the better. Somehow or other, we'll contrive a debut for you, darling. But you must not let the grass grow under your feet!"

Genevieve approved of Roger Dexter. Considering her uncertainty of him, it was painful for Diana to hear so much of Roger, these pre-debut days.

Luncheon ended, they went to the paddock to have a look at the horses. Regina's father had an entry, "Gangster Boy." He was a fine animal. After inspecting him, they all went to the bookies who were accepting bets near the grandstand. The odds on "Gangster Boy" were ten to one. Diana placed her five dollar bet on him. Roger wagered five hundred. He could well afford it. Regina ditto, but not on her father's horse—on a raking named "Hoopa!" where the odds were four to one.

They all went into the Enclosure where they had a row of cane chairs. It was a kaleidoscope of color and movement.

Roger was seated between Diana and Regina. The latter was hailed by many people, so that her attention was diverted from Roger. He turned his dark eyes on Diana. There was a warm and shiny light in them as he surreptitiously caught her gloved hand under the far edge of her short smart coat and challenged her gayly.

"If we win, Diana, my tip on our bet must be repaid by five dances this evening. Okay with you?"

"Okay," she contrived to answer casually, though her soul was singing with joy. She prayed "Gangster Boy" would win. He must win.

The starter gave the signal. A buzz of excitement rose among the spectators as the horses bounded forward, the sheen of their coats and the bright satins of the jockeys gleaming in the sun.

"Gangster Boy" is leading!" gasped Diana, her eyes glued to the field-glasses Roger had loaned her, and her heart palpitating.

Regina had jumped to the seat of her chair and was teetering so precariously that Roger had to jump up too and hold her arm, for fear she would fall.

On flew the horses. Quarter 'round the course now. "Gangster Boy" still leading. Halfway 'round. A second horse was gradually appearing him. Only a length behind him now. The two animals maintained that distance for another quarter. Then the second was neck-and-neck with the first. The crowd yelled and applauded. Diana trembled.

"Hoopa!" screamed Regina, clutching Roger.

Not that Diana minded in the least staying at home. She was fond of Genevieve, although their characters were dissimilar. Which made thing rather trying, although Diana did her best. Genevieve did not mind matters when it came to advising her young daughter, matrimonially speaking. "We're as poor as church mice, Diana. You must marry quickly, and you must marry money. If you can get family and background along with money, so much the better. Somehow or other, we'll contrive a debut for you, darling. But you must not let the grass grow under your feet!"

Genevieve approved of Roger Dexter. Considering her uncertainty of him, it was painful for Diana to hear so much of Roger, these pre-debut days.

Luncheon ended, they went to the paddock to have a look at the horses. Regina's father had an entry, "Gangster Boy." He was a fine animal. After inspecting him, they all went to the bookies who were accepting bets near the grandstand. The odds on "Gangster Boy" were ten to one. Diana placed her five dollar bet on him. Roger wagered five hundred. He could well afford it. Regina ditto, but not on her father's horse—on a raking named "Hoopa!" where the odds were four to one.

They all went into the Enclosure where they had a row of cane chairs. It was a kaleidoscope of color and movement.

Roger was seated between Diana and Regina. The latter was hailed by many people, so that her attention was diverted from Roger. He turned his dark eyes on Diana. There was a warm and shiny light in them as he surreptitiously caught her gloved hand under the far edge of her short smart coat and challenged her gayly.

"If we win, Diana, my tip on our bet must be repaid by five dances this evening. Okay with you?"

"Okay," she contrived to answer casually, though her soul was singing with joy. She prayed "Gangster Boy" would win. He must win.

The starter gave the signal. A buzz of excitement rose among the spectators as the horses bounded forward, the sheen of their coats and the bright satins of the jockeys gleaming in the sun.

"Gangster Boy" is leading!" gasped Diana, her eyes glued to the field-glasses Roger had loaned her, and her heart palpitating.

Regina had jumped to the seat of her chair and was teetering so precariously that Roger had to jump up too and hold her arm, for fear she would fall.

On flew the horses. Quarter 'round the course now. "Gangster Boy" still leading. Halfway 'round. A second horse was gradually appearing him. Only a length behind him now. The two animals maintained that distance for another quarter. Then the second was neck-and-neck with the first. The crowd yelled and applauded. Diana trembled.

"Hoopa!" screamed Regina, clutching Roger.

Not that Diana minded in the least staying at home. She was fond of Genevieve, although their characters were dissimilar. Which made thing rather trying, although Diana did her best. Genevieve did not mind matters when it came to advising her young daughter, matrimonially speaking. "We're as poor as church mice, Diana. You must marry quickly, and you must marry money. If you can get family and background along with money, so much the better. Somehow or other, we'll contrive a debut for you, darling. But you must not let the grass grow under your feet!"

Genevieve approved of Roger Dexter. Considering her uncertainty of him, it was painful for Diana to hear so much of Roger, these pre-debut days.

Luncheon ended, they went to the paddock to have a look at the horses. Regina's father had an entry, "Gangster Boy." He was a fine animal. After inspecting him, they all went to the bookies who were accepting bets near the grandstand. The odds on "Gangster Boy" were ten to one. Diana placed her five dollar bet on him. Roger wagered five hundred. He could well afford it. Regina ditto, but not on her father's horse—on a raking named "Hoopa!" where the odds were four to one.

They all went into the Enclosure where they had a row of cane chairs. It was a kaleidoscope of color and movement.

Roger was seated between Diana and Regina. The latter was hailed by many people, so that her attention was diverted from Roger. He turned his dark eyes on Diana. There was a warm and shiny light in them as he surreptitiously caught her gloved hand under the far edge of her short smart coat and challenged her gayly.

"If we win, Diana, my tip on our bet must be repaid by five dances this evening. Okay with you?"

"Okay," she contrived to answer casually, though her soul was singing with joy. She prayed "Gangster Boy" would win. He must win.

The starter gave the signal. A buzz of excitement rose among the spectators as the horses bounded forward, the sheen of their coats and the bright satins of the jockeys gleaming in the sun.

"Gangster Boy" is leading!" gasped Diana, her eyes glued to the field-glasses Roger had loaned her, and her heart palpitating.

Regina had jumped to the seat of her chair and was teetering so precariously that Roger had to jump up too and hold her arm, for fear she would fall.

On flew the horses. Quarter 'round the course now. "Gangster Boy" still leading. Halfway 'round. A second horse was gradually appearing him. Only a length behind him now. The two animals maintained that distance for another quarter. Then the second was neck-and-neck with the first. The crowd yelled and applauded. Diana trembled.

"Hoopa!" screamed Regina, clutching Roger.

What did she care if "Gangster Boy," her father's entry, was defeated, and if several of her guests had backed him?

All that mattered was that she had backed a winner—that she be successful.

"Hoopa!" shot past the judges like a streak of lightning.

Everything that could be calculated to amuse was included in the palatial Hyde estate on Long Island.

There were horses to ride. A nine-hole golf course. Three outdoor and one indoor tennis court. A swimming-pool, complete with diving board and all the parapher-

"The grapes are under your belt and not in your hair! You've drunk too much old boy."

Dexter, considering her uncertainty of him, it was painful for Diana to hear so much of Roger, these pre-debut days.

Luncheon ended, they went to the paddock to have a look at the horses. Regina's father had an entry, "Gangster Boy." He was a fine animal. After inspecting him, they all went to the bookies who were accepting bets near the grandstand. The odds on "Gangster Boy" were ten to one. Diana placed her five dollar bet on him. Roger wagered five hundred. He could well afford it. Regina ditto, but not on her father's horse—on a raking named "Hoopa!" where the odds were four to one.

They all went into the Enclosure where they had a row of cane chairs. It was a kaleidoscope of color and movement.

Roger was seated between Diana and Regina. The latter was hailed by many people, so that her attention was diverted from Roger. He turned his dark eyes on Diana. There was a warm and shiny light in them as he surreptitiously caught her gloved hand under the far edge of her short smart coat and challenged her gayly.

"If we win, Diana, my tip on our bet must be repaid by five dances this evening. Okay with you?"

"Okay," she contrived to answer casually, though her soul was singing with joy. She prayed "Gangster Boy" would win. He must win.

The starter gave the signal. A buzz of excitement rose among the spectators as the horses bounded forward, the sheen of their coats and the bright satins of the jockeys gleaming in the sun.

"Gangster Boy" is leading!" gasped Diana, her eyes glued to the field-glasses Roger had loaned her, and her heart palpitating.

Regina had jumped to the seat of her chair and was teetering so precariously that Roger had to jump up too and hold her arm, for fear she would fall.

On flew the horses. Quarter 'round the course now. "Gangster Boy" still leading. Halfway 'round. A second horse was gradually appearing him. Only a length behind him now. The two animals maintained that distance for another quarter. Then the second was neck-and-neck with the first. The crowd yelled and applauded. Diana trembled.

"Hoopa!" screamed Regina, clutching Roger.

Not that Diana minded in the least staying at home. She was fond of Genevieve, although their characters were dissimilar. Which made thing rather trying, although Diana did her best. Genevieve did not mind matters when it came to advising her young daughter, matrimonially speaking. "We're as poor as church mice, Diana. You must marry quickly, and you must marry money. If you can get family and background along with money, so much the better. Somehow or other, we'll contrive a debut for you, darling. But you must not let the grass grow under your feet!"

Genevieve approved of Roger Dexter. Considering her uncertainty of him, it was painful for Diana to hear so much of Roger, these pre-debut days.

Luncheon ended, they went to the paddock to have a look at the horses. Regina's father had an entry, "Gangster Boy." He was a fine animal. After inspecting him, they all went to the bookies who were accepting bets near the grandstand. The odds on "Gangster Boy" were ten to one. Diana placed her five dollar bet on him. Roger wagered five hundred. He could well afford it. Regina ditto, but not on her father's horse—on a raking named "Hoopa!" where the odds were four to one.

They all went into the Enclosure where they had a row of cane chairs. It was a kaleidoscope of color and movement.

Roger was seated between Diana and Regina. The latter was hailed by many people, so that her attention was diverted from Roger. He turned his dark eyes on Diana. There was a warm and shiny light in them as he surreptitiously caught her gloved hand under the far edge of her short smart coat and challenged her gayly.

"If we win, Diana, my tip on our bet must be repaid by five dances this evening. Okay with you?"

"Okay," she contrived to answer casually, though her soul was singing with joy. She prayed "Gangster Boy" would win. He must win.

The starter gave the signal. A buzz of excitement rose among the spectators as the horses bounded forward, the sheen of their coats and the bright satins of the jockeys gleaming in the sun.

"Gangster Boy" is leading!" gasped Diana, her eyes glued to the field-glasses Roger had loaned her, and her heart palpitating.

Regina had jumped to the seat of her chair and was teetering so precariously that Roger had to jump up too and hold her arm, for fear she would fall.

On flew the horses. Quarter 'round the course now. "Gangster Boy" still leading. Halfway 'round. A second horse was gradually appearing him. Only a length behind him now. The two animals maintained that distance for another quarter. Then the second was neck-and-neck with the first. The crowd yelled and applauded. Diana trembled.

"Hoopa!" screamed Regina, clutching Roger.

cent guests, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Fulmore, Woodbourne; Mrs. Edward Willett, Trenton, N. J. and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yost, Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin and daughter Jean, Bristol, were Monday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Montague.

Alma Harris, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Leonard and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hibbs and family motored through the Poconos, recently.

W

25 Roosters Crow Their Best To Win A Prize of $100

Continued from Page One

for the unusual ceremony, offered to act as messenger in the errand, but Granite with polite thanks remarked "I'll relay it myself." Then he called to the porch of Newtown's country store the third prize winner, William M. Davis, Newtown, and the little lad who secured consolation prize, Harry Delano, Newtown. Miss Davis accepted a crisp, new $10 bill for her father, and young Harry Delano, who for days has been eagerly watching the progress of the contest, smiled broadly as he accepted a brand new $5 bill, his rooster having made "noble effort" as Granite put it. The second place winner, Miss Estelle Taylor, Danbury, Conn., who was not present to receive her award, will likewise have a $10 bill sent to her.

The announcement of the winner, at the christening ceremony, was made by one of the five austere-appearing judges.

Just prior to the christening "rite" Mr. Granite, using a loud-speaker on the porch of the store, told that water for the ceremony had been secured from the Passamaquoddy Dam "into which Franklin Delano Roosevelt has poured 10 or 15 million dollars of our money. I endeavor to get water from the Florida ship canal, also, but was informed there was nothing but mud in that big ditch into which Franklin D. Roosevelt has also poured eight or 10 million more of our money."

Following the ceremony the chief judge was requested by Granite to transfer the winning bird from its crate to a wire cage where it could be seen more readily. As the bird cowered somewhat Granite remarked: "There he goes, showing the white feather already." Then he announced the cage will be suitably inscribed so that all passersby might know who and what the bird is.

Another announcement by the country-store proprietor was to the effect that between the hours of five p. m. on Tuesday next, and five a. m. of Wednesday morning, "we will have a show around here. There will be vaudeville and general jollification. We will give Newtown as good a time as it's had for some time. There will be twice the fun and twice the good news as there has been for many a day. And we may have some coffee and sweet cider for all who come out. There will be loud speakers for returns of the election, for which returns I have made arrangements with the Republican National Committee." Then the band played "Oh, Susanna."

Bucks County's first rooster crowing contest was conducted in front of the general store of Mark Granite, this morning, beginning at five o'clock. That is, it was supposed to begin at five o'clock but some of the entries were so anxious to exercise their vocal chords and get them in trim for the performance in front of the judges, that they began to rehearse as early as three o'clock. By five they were all going good, even to the little bantam of Harry Delano, which was rewarded for effort.

There were 25 entries, each parked in a separate crate, plainly labeled and numbered. The crates were upon the steps of the store, while the audience arranged itself upon the sidewalk. Like the entries, the audience came from all sections of Bucks County. They came in automobiles and some came afoot. Many were still drowsy and one could see that getting up at five o'clock to attend a rooster crowing contest, was not their daily occupation.

At 5.15 Mr. Granite announced from the steps that the board of judges would shortly appear as they had been donning their judicial robes in their chambers on the second floor of the store. Then five tall men wearing Prince Albert coats, high silk hats, and false beards, descended the stairway. They filed in solemn procession out onto the street where they stood in a dignified row listening to the roosters. Apparently awed by the dignity of the group the roosters for just a minute were silent. One almost expected to hear the ceremony open with a prayer, so impressive was the silence. Then that noisy little bantam of Harry Delano sang his sunrise song. This was the keynote for the others, most of who quickly took up the refrain.

In the audience of 60 or more people there were some of the owners of the contestants. And in some instances their birds were not getting into action, either due to the novelty of the affair or else because they just didn't like leaving the amateur ranks and going professional. One anxious woman in the audience, quickly tripped to the coop of her rooster. Grabbing the crate she shook it violently. "Come on—get awake," she shouted into the ears of her entry. Her commanding words were all that were needed. That rooster started crowing right then and there. And crow he did!

Nothing daunted, however, Mr. Bantam continued to set the pace as sort of a pathfinder. He would give the opening crow and then the others would follow. Never once did Mr. Bantam realize how poor an imitation he was along side of those with louder and huskier voices.

The judges dodged about in and out between the crates endeavoring to get the right crow hooked up with the right rooster, so that their decision would be right and just. It was difficult work for them to pin the right crow every time onto the right bird. But they certainly tried. Their long coats, high hats and whiskers were nothing to accelerate their action, and especially the hats which rested jauntily upon their heads.

After listening to the crowing of each and every bird the judges retired to their chambers, there to deliberate upon their findings.

"Who are the judges?" was the question asked right and left.

"Oh, they are reputable Newtown residents but due to the expected hostility of the owners of the losing entries, it was thought better that they appear in disguise."

The entries included roosters owned by the following: Mrs. Ezekiel Krusen, Harry Delano, P. T. Vandegrift, the Misses Jean and Marjorie Fabian, S. Paul Woodman, Stanley

Worthington, Charles Wynne, Newtown; the Misses Mary and Marian White, Dolington; Henry O. Smith, Pipersville; the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 245, of Sellersville-Perkasie-Quakertown (two birds); Walter J. Thompson, Honeybrook; Joseph Haines, Bristol; Mrs. Edward Seese, Worthy F. Seese, Mrs. Myrtle M. Davis, Aubrey Cole, Mrs. Ottily M. Seese, HAND IN HAND WITH COMMUNISM?

Roosevelt and Garner posters in the 6th Assembly District, 44 Avenue C, New York City, are accompanied by this large sign of the Communist Party which surmounts them.

Emma Davis, Clarence Davis, Newtown; Harold W. Shermer, Colmar; Mrs. Charles E. Miller, Yardley; Morris J. Roberts, Bridgeton Pike; William Henry, Woodside.

A metal sign on the Vandegrift bird's crate read: "I'm Voting Republican;" and the following was on the crate from the V. F. W. Post: "The Big Bird (Who has but a single feather in his tail favors F. D. R.) but... The Unassuming Bird is Alf M. Landan."

Those who have benefitted by Courier classifieds are our best boosters, and steadiest customers. Get in line, and help yourself to some cash.—(Advertisement.)

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

THIS is National Apple Week come in time to help you celebrate Halloween. Many varieties of both cooking and eating types are available for your choosing.

Veal and pork are noticeably cheaper. Chucks of lamb are an excellent value while chucks of beef cost as much as rounds. Broiling, frying and roasting chickens are all reasonable. Fresh eggs are cheaper and butter continues moderate in price. Oranges and grapefruit are both very reasonable. Various types of winter pears including Bosc, Anjou and Comice are in market. The cabbage family represents outstanding values in the vegetable line.

Here are three menus planned for different budget levels.

Low Cost Dinner
Swiss Steak
Mashed Potatoes Creamed Onions
Bread and Butter
Apple Crisp
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Beef Scalloped Eggplant
Brussels Sprouts
Bread and Butter
Deep Apple Pie
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Grapefruit
Roast Lamb Browned Potatoes
Fried Eggplant
Apple and Grape Salad
Bread and Butter
Orange Bavarian
Coffee

NEWPORTVILLE

The Halloween Social conducted by the Cheerful Workers Society of Newportville Church in conjunction with the regular meeting Wednesday evening was held at the home of Mrs. Mabel Wright. Sixteen were present and the costumes were elaborate and original. Mrs. George Erny won the costume prize for most original attire. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Charles Mathews presided at the business meeting, and plans were drawn for the annual bazaar to be held December 5th in the church basement. The cast was selected for the play, "The Aunt From California," which will be presented at the bazaar.

Lewis Munster, Scoutmaster, announces a change in meetings. The weekly session will be held Friday evening in the church basement, and each Friday following.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stevenson and daughter Clair spent Sunday in Philadelphia visiting Mrs. Mary Lynton, who is in the Episcopal Hospital under observation.

Mr. and Mrs. William Grimwood motored to Avon, N. J., Sunday, accompanying Mrs. Jane Lee, who will spend several days with her son, Harry Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Middleton motored to Springfield, Mass., over the week-end. Mrs. Ralph Ebbson, who has been their guest for a week, resides in Springfield and was accompanied home by the Middletons.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kinney and son have moved to Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. James Weston are proud of their Great Dane's pups which number 12. The dozen are pedigreed and registered stock and promises to be a valuable litter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown entertained Mrs. Martha Brace, Philadelphia, over the week-end.

A card party was held Saturday evening at Newportville Hotel, for benefit of St. Thomas Aquinas R. C. Church, Crofton, sponsored by a few young members here. There were 70 prizes for guests who played radio, bridge and pinocle. Over $60 was realized.

Courier Classified Ads Bring Results.

Lucky for You — It's a Light Smoke!

For "Night-and-Day" Smokers
— A Light Smoke!

Even though you've been smoking through most of the day, and all through the evening, you'll find that your midnight Lucky tastes as good as your Lucky at noon. For a clean taste, a clear throat... reach for a Lucky—a light smoke!

When Fun and Smoking

Last Way Into the Night...

On party nights—or whenever you do a lot of smoking—you'll find that Luckies, a light smoke, are a comfort as well as a joy! For since Luckies are a light smoke, there's no wear and tear on your throat. Luckies wear well... they're the only cigarette that's "Toasted"... your protection against irritation. So tomorrow, or better, right now, reach for a Lucky—rich with the taste of fine center-leaf tobacco. It's a good morning smoke with a clean, fresh taste. And it's a good night smoke... easy on you... gentle. It's never too late for a light smoke... never too late for a Lucky!

★ ★ NEWS FLASH! ★ ★

82 years old—She Knows Her Popular Music

Mrs. Elizabeth Bowles of Uvalde, Texas, is a real "Sweepstakes" fan. She writes: "I am 82 years old and this is the first time I have ever won anything absolutely free, and am I pleased!" Congratulations, Mrs. Bowles. We're certainly pleased, too, that you won.

Have you entered yet? Have you won your delicious Lucky Strikes? There's music on the air. Tune in "Your Hit Parade"—Wednesday and Saturday evenings. Listen, judge, and compare the tunes—then try Your Lucky Strike "Sweepstakes."

And if you're not already smoking Luckies, buy a pack today and try them. Maybe you've been missing something. You'll appreciate the advantages of Luckies—a Light Smoke of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco.

Luckies—a light smoke

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO — "IT'S TOASTED"

DR. JULIUS SOBEL

Osteopathic Physician

ANNOUNCES THE OPENING
OF HIS OFFICE

Telephone 2981 for Appointment
413 MILL STREET
Over Haps Store

ROCKEY'S DELICATESSEN SPECIALS

Deviled Clams . . 2 for 15c

Deviled Crabs . . . 15c each

Smoked Bloaters . 10c each

Kipperd Herring . 25c bn.

Baked Beans 15c lb

Potato Salad 15c lb

Holland
Spiced Cheese 35c lb

Imported
Sweitzer Cheese . 19c 1/4-lb

Danish
Roquefort Cheese . 49c lb

Burk's
Met Wurst 37c lb

Weiland's
Pork Sausage 31c lb

Weiland's
Scrapple 2-lb pan 25c

Rockey's Best Fresh Roasted
COFFEE 25c lb

Fresh Roasted
Peanuts 15c lb

2 MEN AND 2 RECORDS

ALFRED M. LANDON was elected Governor of Kansas in 1932.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT was elected President of the United States the same year.

Both men faced problems which in many respects were similar.

Both made certain similar promises.

How have the two men fulfilled their promises?

LANDON

Alf M. Landon was born in Pennsylvania, but has practically been a life-long resident of Kansas.

By working summers and plugging hard through law school, he passed his state bar exams, and became a full-fledged lawyer. By turning then to banking, where he started at $75 per month, he learned in three years more than the fundamentals of the banking business.

He learned why some men succeed where others fail; why some have good credit and others none; what policies are practical and what are not. With such a background, it may be easier to understand why Alf Landon's career as business man and Kansas' chief executive has registered one achievement after another for over a quarter century.

His first political start was made, going with his father, John M. Landon, then a Republican delegate to the Taft Convention.

In 1928, he was made chairman of the Republican Kansas State Central Committee, and did an unusually good job of campaigning with the party leaders who knew and trusted him as "a square shooter."

Fought Big Pipelines

Because of his leadership and keen intelligence, Landon led 14,000 "independent" owners in battle against the big corporation pipe lines, which were flooded with flush oil from Texas. He not only made the corporations see the human "rights" of his associates, but he showed himself a match, diplomatically, for the most powerful antagonists even then.

He made the fight of his life—and won. The largest oil companies backed down; rescinded the orders issued. The little well owners pumped on as usual, and their small daily output of one barrel, or less, went to market as usual.

Standard Oil officials are still smarting from the defeat he administered to them when they issued their famous 1930 edict that they would "carry no more oil from the little 'stripper wells' in the Kansas-Oklahoma districts."

Kansas friends and neighbors "knew" that Alf M. Landon will never "wear any man's collar."

Governorship First Office

In political fights, also, he made his mark by unusual achievement. Without ever holding elective office, he found his first candidacy rewarded with the office of governor of Kansas in the 1932 Democratic landslide. He was the only Republican governor in the Mississippi Valley; and in 1932, he was the only Republican governor re-elected in the entire United States.

It was the outstanding quality of his four years in the governor's chair at Topeka, Kansas, that brought him into the national spotlight, and finally brought him the Republican nomination for president. If you ask well-informed citizens in Kansas: "What has Alf Landon done as governor?" you'll get these answers:

"He wrote the best state platform we've had in years."

"HE FULFILLED EVERY CAMPAIGN PROMISE HE MADE, WITHIN FOUR YEARS."

Balances State Budget

"He balanced our state budget."

"He lowered property assessments, and tax rates."

"He paid off accumulated state debts, totaling $18,500,000."

"He did these things without sacrificing state maintenance."

"He saved the people about $1,000,000 a year with lower utility rates."

"He reduced the cost of state government $2,500,000 yearly, and taxation by local units was cut $7,000,000 annually."

"He abolished the 5 per cent political assessment on office holders for campaign funds."

"He wiped out the highway deficit and cut auto license fees 50 per cent."

"Relief was administered without politics, without any charges of corruption or mismanagement, such as smeared so many states, especially in Pennsylvania."

"He has accomplished these things in years when drought and dust storms and financial panics have blighted the state; when four years without one normal wheat crop had discouraged all."

William Allen White, Kansas' political sage and author, says of him: "Landon has more experience in politics and in business and in dealing with men and influencing them than Lincoln had."

Actual Saving $20,000,000

"His savings to the state total about $20,000,000 annually."

"He eliminated the tax exempt gasoline sales evil and gas bootlegging, and reduced bank robberies from 61 in 1932 to 8 in 1935, through his new highway patrol."

"He has accomplished these things in years when drought and dust storms and financial panics have blighted the state; when four years without one normal wheat crop had discouraged all."

William Allen White, Kansas' political sage and author, says of him: "Landon has more experience in politics and in business and in dealing with men and influencing them than Lincoln had."

ROOSEVELT

The President was born on Park Avenue amid silks and satins of a wealthy home. He spent most of his life in the atmosphere of Fifth Avenue Society and on million dollar yachts. He never built up either a business or a profession. He knows nothing of payrolls, price tags or pay-days. He does not know the meaning of overhead.

He knows nothing of the problems of the business man, the merchant or the farmer.

He has lived in a penthouse far removed from the strife of the street, but is now endeavoring to make love to the people from the balcony. After spending fifty years in luxury on land and sea he has suddenly fallen violently in love with the forgotten man.

His three years of administration present an awful picture of debt repudiation, pouring of public funds down rat holes of folly, sinful destruction of animals and growing crops, tinkering with the currency, browbeating industry, fattening bureaucracy, tying business to a post and picking its pockets; encouraging moral flabbiness, lashing thrift with a cat-o-nine-tails, patting shiftlessness on the back, driving capital under the porch, stirring up class hatreds, and slamming the gate in the face of recovery and creating a state of hopelessness and prolonging the suffering of 125 million American people.

Roosevelt's Promises

and Performance

PROMISE

"WE ADVOCATE an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures by abolishing useless commissions and offices, consolidating departments and bureaus, and eliminating extravagance, to accomplish a saving of not less than 25% in the cost of Federal government."

—DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM, 1932

"FOR THREE LONG YEARS I have been going up and down this country preaching that government . . . costs too much. I shall not stop the preaching."

—FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, Acceptance Speech, July 2, 1932.

PERFORMANCE

Expenditures up 72 per cent

IN THE LAST full fiscal year (1932) of President Hoover's Administration the Federal government spent $5,153,644,895. The New Deal increased this rate of spending as follows:

In the year ending June 30, 1934, by 38%.

In the year ending June 30, 1935, by 43%.

In the year ending June 30, 1936, by 72%.

From March 4, 1933, to March 31, 1936, the Roosevelt Administration created more than fifty additional bureaus, commissions, committees, boards, agencies, or government corporations.

PROMISE

"NOT ONLY must the government income meet prospective expenditures, but this income must be secured on the principle of ability to pay. This is a declaration in favor of graduated income, inheritance and profits taxes, and against taxes on food and clothing, whose burden is actually shifted to the consumers of these necessities of life on a per capita basis rather than on the basis of the relative size of personal income."

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, Looking Forward, 1934, pages 104-05

PERFORMANCE

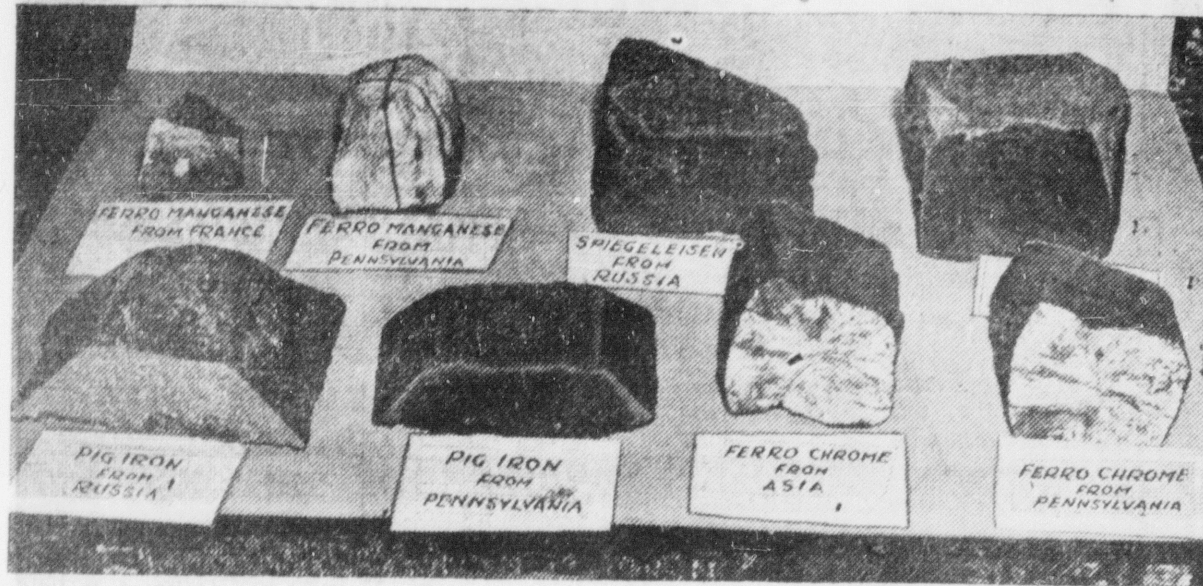

IN 1930, "we find that those taxes bearing most heavily on the well-to-do contributed . . . 68.2 per cent of its (the National Government's) total internal revenue and customs receipts, while miscellaneous taxes and customs receipts, bearing most heavily upon the consumer, contributed only . . . 31.8 per cent of such receipts."

"IN 1935 the taxes based on ability to pay contributed 38.7 per cent of the internal revenue and customs receipts . . . there has been an increase in the proportion of revenues contributed by taxes based on consumption to 61.3 per cent."

THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR reported 12,184,000 still unemployed in March, 1936.

THE PRESIDENT reported 5,300,000 families and individuals still on relief in March, 1936, in contrast to 4,088,000 in July, 1933.

American Miners Menaced by Foreign Coal and Iron

International News Photos by New York American.

LESSON IN EXHIBITS—An interesting layout at the exhibit of American and foreign goods, is the comparison of domestic and foreign minerals. At top left, is a piece of ferromanganese from France which sells here for $61.50 a ton. Right of that is the American product costing $75 a ton.

Next to that is spiegeleisen, from the Soviet, costing

A scuttles of anthracite coal and a mold of pig iron are homey objects, yet they suggest a real menace to the unemployment problem in American mines. If the coal and iron are of foreign origin.

The total number of workers in our anthracite mines in 1934 was 37 per cent less than in 1924. Why?

Using official records, the Pennsylvania Protective Union offers the following explanation:

Through the six-year period 1930-1935, inclusive, we imported and consumed 3,500,000 net tons of foreign anthracite, all in domestic sizes. Taking account of the average quantity of steam sizes that are screened in the selection of domestic sizes, the production here of that 3,500,000 tons of domestic sizes would have required the mining of 5,500,000 net tons.

At the average production per worker in our mines, those imports displaced 2,194,429 man-days of American employment. On the basis of 1934, that would mean a full year's employment of 10,591 men.

These 10,591 miners would have received a total wage of $14,000,000.

The foreign workers who mined that coal received much less than half that wage. Fifty per cent of our

Imported coal came from Russia, where coal fields had been acquired by confiscation; where no taxes are paid; where there is no investment.

This partly explains why Russian coal is always sold in the American market at 50 cents to one dollar less than the price of American coal, no matter what the latter price may be.

We imported during the 12 months ending Feb. 1, 1936, exactly 137,000 tons of pig iron. Production of a ton of pig iron requires 15.9-16 man-hours of labor. Had this pig iron been produced in the United States, we would have provided 12 months work for 1,050 men, whose total wages would have been $1,617,000.

Details of wages paid in Soviet Russia are not obtainable, but an analysis by the United States Department of Labor in January, 1936, showed that in every branch of production Soviet wages were less than half the wages paid in the United States for the same work.

Russian pig iron, with freight and duty paid, is sold here at $17.25 per ton, while pig iron produced here is sold f. o. b. Bethlehem, Pa., at $20.50 per ton.

Ferrochrome, of high carbon content, which is sold f. o. b. Pittsburgh at $18.70 a ton. The American product (right), from Pennsylvania, costs $26.

Bottom left shows Soviet pig iron, costing $17.25 a ton. The Pennsylvania article, right of that, is $20.50.

At the extreme right, bottom, is American high carbon ferrochrome, selling at $157.50 a ton. Left of that is its Asiatic counterpart at $121.50 a ton.

at $157 per ton, is delivered at the Port of New York from Asia for $121.50 per ton.

Ferro manganese, standard, sold f. o. b. Pittsburgh at $75 per ton, is delivered in New York City from France at $61.50 per ton.

This disparity in retail prices had a telling effect on the domestic market, as shown in the Government reports that we imported in 1935 ferro-alloy, valued at $12,560,091, and coal tar products valued at $13,557,765.

The miner asks if foreign manufacturers have taken advantage of the "cheap" raw materials and finished American markets for finished goods.

The 1935 Government reports provide the answer. We imported last year steel mill manufactures (structural iron and steel, pipes, wire, nails, etc.), valued at $10,808,782. We paid foreign makers $3,250,402 for iron and steel advanced manufactures, such as knives, tools and needles.

The American industrialist is alarmed, not alone at the substantial volume of domestic trade already captured by foreign products, but at the potential danger of deeper penetration of our domestic markets.

Let the Spirit of '76 Be The Spirit of '36, Says Maj. Biddle

Continued from Page One

"If this recovery is a real recovery, for which the present administration takes great credit, then why is it that there are still more than 11 million unemployed?"

Striking at the WPA, the former war ace said, "This WPA is nothing more than a hand-out from the neighbors. Mr. Landon objects to this tremendous waste in the administration of these funds. But he does favor relief. Take, for instance, the appropriation of some $20,000 for the construction of a lily pond on the West coast."

"And don't let anybody kid you that the taxes are not rising. In 1932 the hidden taxes amounted to only 30 per cent of the Federal income. Today they amount to 70 per cent. And it is the little man who pays the bill."

"One of the most wicked things that this New Deal has perpetrated is the arousing of class hatred. It wasn't the Democratic party that did this—there is no Democratic party today. The backbone of the Democratic party has walked out on the New Deal."

In concluding, Major Biddle urged the audience to "let the spirit of 1776 be the spirit of 1936 and you can't lose. If you have any love for your country, if you have any patriotism, if you have any ambitions for the lives of your children, then oust the New Deal next Tuesday."

Attorney Horan summed up his thoughts in one appropriate expression, "Whenever these long-haired men and wild-eyed women get together to ameliorate the conditions of the poor people, then beware, for the poor will pay and pay and pay; no doubt these people have good intentions, but they lack the one essential that is most needed, and that is good common horse-sense."

Attacking the unfulfilled promises of the Little New Deal headed by Earle in Pennsylvania Mr. Horan said, "Mr. Earle's income is derived largely from the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Co., located in Philadelphia. A few years ago the employees tried to unionize at this company. And then you should have heard Mr. Earle! Never was an attempt to unionize more bitterly or brutally opposed. This is just one of Earle's hypocrisies."

Horan also laid all the blame for the bank failures in 1933 to the "conspiracies of Roosevelt and Garner." "There was no need for a single bank to fail," Horan declared. "It was forced on the country by the insidious underhand methods in legislation employed by Roosevelt and Garner."

This prominent Philadelphia banker also attacked the men Roosevelt appointed to carry on our government. "Take just one illustration of the type of men Roosevelt appointed, that of the Comptroller of the Treasury. I thought he would appoint someone familiar with finance. But no, he appointed a man who was president of the American Magicians Society."

Businessman Carey, president of the small chemical company in Delaware county, said, "On Tuesday next the Americans in the United States will go to the polls and the nation will go as Maine has already gone. The real bubble that when it bursts will make men and women of this country will come through. There is not a single doubt as to the outcome on November 3rd.

"But, unless we are willing to risk a packed Supreme Court, an undermined Constitution, and an inflation New Deal."

"If Franklin Roosevelt has the academic education and the actual experience necessary to understand the Constitution, then his actions since

WHO AM I?

Continued from Page One

thing you can do to stop the New Dealers from further wasting the people's money and making the public debt bigger and bigger and our taxes higher and higher, AND THAT IS,—

VOTE FOR AND ELECT MR. LANDON PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

Mr. Landon will not order millions of pigs and sheep to be killed and cotton and wheat plowed under, as Mr. Roosevelt did, to make the price of food and clothing go up. We haven't had pork chops and lots of other things we used to have to eat because Mamma says she can not afford to buy them. She says it now takes $1.44 today for what she bought for $1.00 in food in 1933.

Mr. Landon will not throw fifty million dollars in the ocean as Mr. Roosevelt did on his pet experiment at Quoddy, Maine.

Mr. Landon will not spend 200 million dollars in bulding a canal, as Mr. Roosevelt did in Florida when the people did not want it.

Mr. Landon will not do a hundred things Mr. Roosevelt did so it is now costing 23 million dollars a day to run the Government.

Mr. Landon will not have Communists and Socialists in his Cabinet and neither will he permit any "Educational Institute" under the control of the WPA, preach against religion, against the Constitution, against the Supreme Court and our American Government.

So please for my sake and the sake of every little boy and girl in America go to the election in November and vote for Mr. Landon and elect him President and make it better for me and all the other children in the United States when we are grown up.

FATHERS AND MOTHERS, November 3rd will determine the future of America. Whether we are to follow in the way of Washington, Lincoln and Jefferson, or whether we are to choose the wandering trail of European dictatorship. Today, American Labor is being lured by the Administration with promises of legislation. In place of the free labor movement, which the workers have built for themselves, the present Administration promises to create a labor movement by Government decree. This is the course of European dictatorships which have begun by fostering labor movements and, driven by events, have ended by suppressing them.

PERMIT YOUR CHILD TO GROW UP THE AMERICAN WAY

his term of office make him guilty of high treason—but if he doesn't have the necessary education and experience then he shouldn't be president. It is up to the Americans in this country to throw him and his stooges out on November 3rd."

Bridgewater Correspondent Urges Voters Be Guided By True American Conscience

Editor Courier:

On November 3rd, election day, the voters of this country will be handed a ballot which they will be asked to indorse. My friends, this ballot will be the most important document you have ever been called upon to indorse in the past 50 years. If you vote for Landon, it means you are signing a new Declaration of Independence as important, at this critical period, as the original Declaration of Independence signed July 4, 1776. It will be a declaration of independence from a dictator now in Washington who tries to run your business, who tries to tell you that you are a moron, and that all these years you have never known how to run your own private affairs; a declaration from unbearable burdens which are put on you in a disguised manner, and which you and your children will never see paid. It will be a declaration not only from a man who has tried to be President of the United States, but also of a man who has tried to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court at the same time, but failed.

Remember that you live in America. Do you want a Hitler or a Mussolini or a Russian Communistic form of government here? If you do you will not be able to utter a single breath that your conscience would dictate, and which liberty you now enjoy.

What this country needs today is more men like Al Smith who put love of country and American principles before party; men who have the courage to stand for that which they know is right, regardless of party or politics. I know that you, as Americans, are tired of chasing random promises, promises and platform the Democrats have failed to fulfill.

A noted radio preacher who broadcasts every Sunday on a coast-to-coast hook-up, before and for a time after the election of Roosevelt, used as his slogan, "Roosevelt or Ruin," but it was not long before this noted preacher saw the error of his way, and, like Al Smith, this man had courage enough to change that slogan to "Roosevelt and Ruin."

I always believed in America for Americans and that is still my slogan. When any man, regardless of who he may be, tries to violate and ruin the laws of our Constitution, we must awake from our coma and oust him.

In conclusion, when I look on the American flag I cannot see how many stars and stripes there are in it, but I do see wrapped up in those stars and stripes the faces of the men who made this country great. I see Washington at Valley Forge, the snow-covered ground covered with bloody footprints of a half-starved army of uplifted men, but with hands upturned to Heaven, praying to the Almighty God for deliverance from the foe. And I see Lincoln proclaiming the Freedom of the Negro slaves, and Grant at Gettysburg, Theodore Roosevelt with his Rough Riders, leading them to victory for the Stars and Stripes, and lastly, I SEE ALFRED LANDON RESTORING AMERICA TO THE AMERICANS, giving every man the right to run his own business and every farmer the right to have as many hogs as he pleases, and to plant as much grain as he sees fit.

Don't fail to vote, and let your true American conscience be your guide.

GEORGE B. CHERRY, October 28, 1936, Bridgewater, Pa.

Real Estate for Rent

Houses for Rent 77

615 BEAVER STREET—Apply to P. J. Barrett.

BUCKLEY ST., 425—Hot water heat, garage, Mrs. D. A. Barrett, 331 Radcliffe St.

214 MULBERRY ST.—Dwelling, 7 rooms and bath, conveniences, good condition, very desirable, rent, $30.00. . . Nice dwelling, 243 Harrison Street, 6 rooms and bath, heat, good condition, rent $25.00. . . Apartment on Cleveland Street, 4 rooms and bath, rent $16.00. . . All available November First. . . Francis J. Byers, 409 Radcliffe Street.

Real Estate for Sale

Farms and Land for Sale 83

12 ACRE FARM—At Emille, Pa. Reasonable. William Dixon, R. F. D. No. 1, Bristol.

LEGAL

DIVORCE NOTICE

No. 42
Nannie G. Follin Term October, 1936.
vs. Pluries Div.
Ira K. Follin Sur Divorc.
To Ira K. Follin, late of Swain Street, Bristol, Pa.
Whereas, Nannie G. Follin, your wife, has filed a libel in the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County of September Term 1936 No. 41 praying a divorce from you, now you are hereby notified and required to appear in said Court on or before Monday the Ninth day of November next, to answer the complaint of the said Nannie G. Follin in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in your absence.

HORACE E. GWINNER, Sheriff of Bucks County, Penna.

HUGH B. EASTBURN, Attorney.

10-15-40w

Classified Advertising Department

Announcements

Deaths

DUFFY—At Philadelphia, Pa., October 27, 1936, John, husband of the late Fanny Duffy. Relatives and friends are invited to attend the funeral from his late residence, 125 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, Friday morning at 9:00. High Mass in St. Mark's Church at 10:00. Interment in St. Mark's Cemetery.

GILBERT—Suddenly at Cornwells Heights, Pa., October 27, 1936, Charles B., husband of Anna B. Gilbert. Relatives and friends are invited to attend the funeral services from his late residence, Cornwells Heights, Pa., Friday, at 2 p. m. Interment private. Friends may call Thursday evening, 7 to 9 p. m.

Funeral Directors

UNDERTAKER—William I. Murphy, Estate, 316 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, Pa., phone 2417.

Business Service

PAPERHANGING—J. T. Hinchliffe & Son, Bristol, R. F. D. No. 2, Phone 3059.

WRECKED CARS REBUILT—Auto tops recovered; body and fender straightening; cars refinished $14.50. Auto Paint Shop, Dorrance St., ph. 3053.

CARS REFINISHED—Quality materials used. Special this week, Fords, $11. Keyes Auto Paint Shop, State Rd., opp. public school, Croydon.

Building and Contracting

ELECTRICAL WORK—Motors and lighting, ranges, heaters. George P. Bailey, Bath Rd., Bristol. Gial 7125.

Financial

Money to Loan—Mortgages 40

I HAVE FUNDS—For investment in good first mortgages on desirable dwellings in Bristol and vicinity, both Building and Loan plan and Straight Mortgage plan. Reasonable charges. Francis J. Byers, 409 Radcliffe street, Bristol.

Employment

Help Wanted—Female 32

GIRL—Or woman for general housework. No laundry. References. $5 wk. Write Box 377, Courier Office.

CROCHETERS—Experienced on infants' hand-made booties and sacques. Write Chas. Metz, 11 N. Sixth St., Phila., Pa.

Help Wanted—Male 33

FIFTY MEN—For farm work. Apply 937 Beaver St., cor. of Spring St., between 7 and 8 p. m. Good wages.

Instructions

Male Instruction 42-A

MEN—To take up air conditioning and electric refrigeration and better themselves. Must be mechanically inclined, willing to train in spare time to qualify. Write Utilities Eng. Inst., Box 376, Courier Office.

In a Personal Way

INTERESTING bits of news mainly about people you know. A chronicle of the activities of the people of Bristol; their goings and comings. : : :

RECENT GUESTS IN TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderhoof, Dover, N. J., spent the week-end with Mrs. Annie Tiedman, Beaver street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Small and son Gordon, J. Atkinson and son David and daughter Marion, Riverton, N. J., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Wilson Black, 256 Madison street.

Mrs. Esther Earll, Mayfair, spent a few days as guest of Mrs. C. J. Hetherington, Locust street.

Irvin Hetherington, Media, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Hetherington, Buckley street.

HAS GUESTS AT MUSICALS

Mrs. William E. Doron, Cedar street, had as guests at the opening luncheon of the Matinee Musicale Club, Tuesday, at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, Mrs. C. L. Anderson, Radcliffe street; Mrs. Thomas G. Hawkes, Edgely; Mrs. Price Patton, Mrs. Richard Burroughs, and Mrs. Hubble, Philadelphia.

OUT OF TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanLenten and son Henry, Jr., Wilson avenue, week-end in Clinton, N. J., visiting Mrs. George Harinec.

Mrs. Patrick Waters and daughters Kay and Patricia, 229 Madison street, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting Mrs. Waters' mother, Mrs. Rice, Burlington, N. J.

Mrs. A. Russell Burton has returned to 503 Radcliffe street, after spending five days in New York visiting her son, Anthony Burton.

Jack Coleman, who has been spending several weeks with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilkie, Florence, N. J., returned to his home on Locust street, Sunday.

ENTERTAINED AT LOCAL HOMES

Albert Martz, Willow Grove, was a Saturday guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Black, 204 Cedar street.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Adams, Edgewater Park, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Pond street, motored to Easton, Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Adams were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

Sunday dinner guests of Miss Theresa Dennen, 257 Jackson street, were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bertolami, Franklin street, Miss Ann Kennedy, Lafayette street, and Thomas Stuke, Tullytown. In the evening, Miss Dennen and guests motored to Asbury Park, N. J.

Samuel Smith, Chester, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smoyer, Garfield street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buck, 405 Jefferson avenue, entertained at dinner on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert

Hanson and Miss Gertrude Hanson, in honor of Miss Hanson's birthday.

Miss Laurine Thornton, New York, spent the week-end with her sisters, the Misses Bertha and Beulah Thornton, 573 Bath street.

S. S. CLASS OF YOUNG FOLKS INDULGE IN A HALLOWE'EN FUNCTION

Fun Seekers, Presbyterian Church, Gather at Home of Miss Dorothy Bair

A Halloween party was given last evening by members of the Fun Seekers' Sunday School Class, Bristol Presbyterian Church, at the home of the teacher, Miss Dorothy Bair, Harrison street. The members invited friends. After unmasking, games were played and prizes awarded. Dancing and singing were enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

Those attending: Anita Zug, Amelia Leeper, Evelyn, Streeter, Doris Stewart, Dorothy Coombs, Evelyn Buck, Alma Holmes, Michael Petrik, Jr., David Hetherington, John McClafferty, Jr., Benjamin Sheetz, Headley LaRue and Charles Hughes.

County Library Ass'n Reports Activities

Continued from Page One

Library stated that during the past year 258 new books had been purchased. Newtown Library had five representatives. This library recently received a donation of $300, and during the past six months has been improving the exterior of the building.

Langhorne, with a large number of representatives, reported to be in a flourishing condition. The outside appearances of the library are excellent and the interior lighting facilities are good.

New Britain's six representatives stated that 165 volumes of fiction, non fiction and stories for children had been purchased. This library contributed more than 100 garments for the Needlework Guild of America.

Southampton, which has one of the leading libraries in the county, had five delegates at the meeting. Ambler had two. The latter organization has over 1100 children enrolled. This library receives an annual appropriation of $200 from Ambler Borough Council.

It holds no benefit affairs, but is always on the alert for contributors.

Union Library, Hattboro, sent two delegates to the meeting. This organization cleared $600 on a supper held recently. The library spent $60 for mending books and received $14 for discarded volumes. Three hundred books have been added to the shelves and $70 was received through the pay shelf.

Jenkintown's lone representative stated that this library has 18,298 books on its shelves. This library, which raised $400 through card parties, sends its discarded books to the Wynecote Home for the Aged.

Mary H. Walter Memorial Library, Eureka, also had only one representative and she reported excellent work especially with the school children. The teachers, she said, are co-operating in an excellent manner.

New Hope's three delegates announced that the library had purchased a plot of ground and that during the past year 2413 books had been in circulation.

Glenside's two representatives stated that between 1800 and 2000 books are in circulation every month. The Abington School Board has made an appropriation of $100 to this library.

Following the roll call Miss Evelyn Matthews, a representative of the State Library Association, Harrisburg, gave helpful suggestions, and promised to make the mailing list more accurate. "The Penna. Library Notes," she said, are sent free to all libraries for the asking. Miss Matthews also told of the damage that was caused in the libraries along the banks of the Susquehanna river during the floods last Spring.

Mrs. William Kuhn, Hattboro, reported having conferred with the Montgomery County Commissioners relative to the establishment of a county library, but she was unable to state the outcome of the conference.

At the opening of the afternoon session Miss Lillian Patterson, of this place, rendered two piano solos and Mrs. William E. Deknatel, Chalfont, sang two vocal selections.

Mrs. Caskill, of the Glenside Library gave an excellent review of Henner's Lydia a story which deals with the Amish people in Lancaster county.

To All Who Suffer From Acute Attacks Asthma-Bronchitis Persistent Coughs

Two or three doses of the Famous BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE in sweetened hot water and sipped slowly just before retiring usually ensures a restful night's sleep. Asthma-Bronchitis sufferers enjoy a coughless night, you'll sleep sound and wake refreshed if you will be just wise enough to do this before you go to bed. Note—While BUCKLEY'S is not offered as a cure for Asthma or Bronchitis it will give immediate relief from that choking, gasping struggle known as Asthma. BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE is sold by all good druggists on a guarantee of full satisfaction of your money back. Advertisement.

This book was written by Mrs. D. Angely, Glenside, and two other books which she wrote were shown. Bits of new poetry were read by Mrs. Frederick J. Schell, of this place.

Before adjournment representatives of the New Hope and Fallsington libraries discussed "What has your library done for your school?" and representatives from Newtown and Southampton discussed "Which of the New Books Shall We Buy?"

The Spring meeting of the association will be held at the headquarters of the Mary H. Walter Library, Eureka, on the fourth Tuesday of April, 1937.

Motorists Indignant Over 20-Mile Limit

Continued from Page One

is on any other part of the highway. The attempted restriction is an arbitrary and unreasonable exercise of power.

Mr. Smith pointed out further that the method of enforcement is contrary to a recent decision of the Superior Court, which held that in 20-mile zones it is not permissible to "clock" motorists by means of a speedometer on the vehicle operated by the pursuing policeman. The "measured stretch," or "speed trap," is the proper means for determining speed in such zones, he said.

Another legal flaw is found in the signs themselves. The Code provides that such signs shall bear the words "Twenty Mile Speed Limit" in letters not less than four inches in height. The Langhorne Manor signs use the figure "20."

"We are not so concerned with the technical flaws as we are with the whole unreasonable proposition of a 20-mile zone in open country," concluded Mr. Smith. "We are always willing to co-operate with authorities

AUTOMOBILE SHOPPERS' FOOD STORE

PASSANANTE'S

Specialty Meats, Snacks, Vegetables

FINE FOODS

PHONE 457 < So Easy Parking > 1039 POND ST.

FRESH FISH FRIDAY ONLY

Veal Cutlets lb 33c

Stewing or Roasting
CHICKENS (av. 3 1/2-4 lbs) lb 25c

Shoulder Pork . . . lb 21c Bacon . . . 1/2-lb pkg 15c

Chuck Roast . . lb 14 1/2c Sausage (Amer.) . lb 25c

Fresh Butts . . . lb 24c Scrapple lb 9c

FRESH HAMS (whole or shank half) lb 25c

Pork Cutlets . . . lb 35c Round Steak . . . lb 23c

Center Pork Chops, lb 33c Tender Rib Roast . lb 25c

Brisket of Beef . . lb 10c Dried Beef . . . 1/4-lb 9c

STEWING VEAL OR LAMB lb 14c

RIB END PORK FOR KRAUT lb 23c

1-lb 19c
3 lb Box 55c

HARD MIXED CANDIES

CHOC. STRAWS, STUFFED CANDIES, lb 21c

UNITY FLOUR 12 lbs 43c, 5 lbs 21c

GOLD MEDAL FLOUR 12 lbs 61c, 5 lbs 27c

Pershey Kisses . . lb 21c Crisco . . lb 22c, 3 lbs 63c

Figs 8-oz pkg 12c Toilet Tissue . 6 rolls 23c

Dates, 7 1/4 ozs . 2 for 25c Fig Bars lb 10c

CAMPBELL'S

TOMATO SOUP 3 cans 20c

ROYAL GELATIN or PUDDING 3 pkgs 17c

FKD. QUICK COOKING OATS 2 pkgs 15c

SUGAR 10-lbs 49c

Post Toasties . 2 pkgs 15c Dried Mixed Fruit . lb 15c

Apple Butter . 2 qts 29c Vegetable Relish . jar 15c

Large Prunes . . 2 lbs 17c Face Soap . . . 3 bars 10c

Catsup 3 bots 25c

PURE EGG NOODLES (fine, med., wide) . . lb 15c

DOLE'S PINEAPPLE JUICE 2 cans 25c

Repp's Natural SWEET CIDER . 1/2-gal 25c, gal 39c

NUTS IN SHELL: MIXED NUTS lb 23c

LARGE DIAMOND WALNUTS lb 25c

NUT MEATS, Basket, Cello. pkg 24c

GOOD, JUICY EATING APPLES 3 lbs 19c

SWEET, RIPE SICKEL PEARS 3 lbs 17c

Ripe Pumpkins . each 5c Juicy Oranges . . doz 25c

Bananas 4 lbs 23c String Beans . . 2 lbs 15c

Tokay Grapes . 2 lbs 15c Cooking Apples, 3 lbs 10c

Large, Snow-White CAULIFLOWER . each 10c, up
BABBITT'S CLEANSER 3 cans 13c
TURNIPS, ONIONS, SWEET POTATOES . 3 lbs 10c

in proper enforcement, but we cannot enforcement being attempted in Langhorne there is any justification for the Home Manor."

AMERICAN STORES CO.

A Great Housekeeper You Should Know

Quality Foods for HALLOWE'EN

Make this a gala event with very little expense. Every food needed for the occasion is ready in our stores to add to the bounty of your table.

Pumpkin ASCO large 10c
Fancy Cooked can

Cider Sweet gal jug 39c Brazil Nuts King Cole lb 19c
Citron Glace 1/2 lb 17c Walnuts Large Budded lb 25c
Dates Pitted 8 oz pkg 12c Mixed Nuts Fancy lb 23c
Gold Seal Macaroni or Spaghetti pkg 5c

Buy by the dozen — for Convenience and Economy

Farmdale Tender
Peas No. 2 cans 2
New Pack—full of flavor.

ASCO Fancy Shoe Peg
Corn Doz $1.39
Young tender kernels

JELL-O (assorted flavors) pkg 5c
ASCO Gelatine Desserts 3 pkgs 13c
Dole Pineapple Gems tall can 10c
Dole Fancy Large Slices Pineapple 1 1/4-size can 10c
Choice Cut String Beans 2 No. 2 cans 15c
Center Cuts Asparagus No. 2 can 10c
ASCO Ground Black Pepper 1/4-lb can 5c
Crisco lb can 20c : Sanka Coffee lb tin 37c

Quality Products Fresh From Our Bakeries

Fine ingredients, properly prepared by expert bakers.

ASCO Sandwich (Sliced) extra long wrapped loaf BREAD 8c

Dole Family Bread pan of 2 big loaves 10c

ASCO Spiced Wafers lb 19c; 3 lbs 55c

Harvest Cake Virginia Lee each 29c

Pure Jelly Hom-de-lite Grape & Currant 2 12-oz tumbler 25c

Apples Stayman 3 lbs 17c
Extra Fancy doz 33c

Iceberg Lettuce 2 heads 15c Celery Hearts 2 for 10c
Fla. Grapefruit 3 for 14c Crisp Spinach lb 5c
Fresh Pumpkins each 15c Sweet Potatoes 3 lbs 10c

Fancy Snow-White
Cauliflower head 10c

ASCO MEATS Are Extra Good Food-Energy

PORK LOIN
Lean Fresh Rib End
(Up to 3 lbs) lb 21c

Fresh Killed
Stewing Chickens lb 25c

FRESH HAMS, Whole or Shank Half, lb 25c

Tender Beef or Lamb Liver lb 19c
Swift's Monogram Half Smokes or Beef Bologna lb 18c

Salmon Fresh Sliced lb 29c

Fancy Jersey Croakers or Porgies 2 lbs 15c

Where Quality Counts and Your Money Goes Furthest

These Prices Effective in Our Stores and Meat Markets in Bristol and Croydon only

GRAND Thursday and Friday

Dick Powell, Joan Blondell in 'Stage Struck'

Cartoon Comedy — Bingo Crosbyanna — News

—Coming Saturday—
BRUCE CABOT in "DON'T TURN 'EM LOOSE"

LIDO VENICE

Presenting a GALA SHOW beginning TONIGHT and continuing FRIDAY and SATURDAY Evenings

Featuring the Beautiful Songsters and Dancers
"DOLORES SISTERS"

MASQUERADE PARTY FRIDAY

Music by Armstrong and His Ambassadors
THERE IS NEVER A DULL MOMENT HERE
Dinners Served At Any Time

Makes Weak, Sickly Men and Women Feel and Act Years Younger

Thousands of men and women with their youth behind them are finding the strain of modern life and work too exhausting — their energy gone — their vigor and vitality at a low ebb.

Is it surprising that doctors tell them to ease up — to give their tired nerves and bodies a chance to build up new strength and energy?

What you need is Clements' Tonic—a quick acting tonic that makes new rich red blood and sends it coursing thru your veins carrying new strength — steadying nerves—stimulating appetite and bringing old time energy back — you'll sleep soundly.

Try Clements' Tonic (2 tablets 3 times a day with meals). You can get it at United Cut Rate with the clear understanding that you must get real results in 10 days' time or money back. —(Advertisement.)

BIG TIME AT THE WHEATSHEAF INN
(W. W. Lippincott, Prop.)

Saturday Night
OLD-FASHIONED
MASQUERADE DANCE
Good Music
Large Dance Floor
A GOOD TIME ASSURED ALL WHO ATTEND

HILL SIDE NOOK
FRANK NELSON'S ORCHESTRA

Starting Friday Night, October 30th

MASKED DANCE
SATURDAY NIGHT
OCTOBER 31
Please Attend Masked
PLENTY OF FUN
Excellent Dance Floor
A. G. Wright, Prop.

BIG TIME TONIGHT AT THE HALLOWE'EN PARTY at The
GREEN PALACE
227 Mill Street — Music by
FRANK DELIA AND HIS ORCHESTRA
SPECIAL LUNCHEON — DEVEILED CLAMS

EXCELLENT QUALITY MEATS

In selecting Meats, Quality is our greatest consideration. We choose this type of Meat for your protection as well as your Satisfaction. Protect your Family's Health — Buy Excellent Quality Meats.

CHOICE LEGS OF LAMB lb 29c
Nutritious and Tasty — An Excellent Roast

Shoulder of Lamb . lb 25c | Loin Lamb Chops . lb 40c

FRESH LOINS OF PORK (whole or half) . . lb 29c
Elliott's Country Dressed Loins — Tasty and Delicious

FRESH SHOULDERS OF PORK lb 25c
Full Meaty Shoulders — May Be Boned To Fill

FANCY, FRESH-KILLED CHICKENS lb 35c
Fancy Young Chickens from Nearby Farms

FANCY RIB ROAST OF BEEF lb 30c
Choice Ribs of High Grade Cattle

FRESHLY-GROUND HAMBURGER 25c
Elliott's Country

SAUSAGE 1 lb 35c
Elliott's Country

Fancy White CAULIFLOWER 15c
Fancy Green

Fancy Fresh LIMA BEANS 25c
Home Grown

Fancy RUTABAGAS 15c
Fancy WHITE

CHOICE CUTS pound
RUMP STEAK 42c

SCRAPPLE 2 lbs 29c
Elliott's Country

STRING BEANS 18c
Fancy Green

CELERY 15c
Home Grown

TURNIPS 15c
Fancy WHITE

DIAL 2512
JAMES V. LAWLER 527
The House of Excellence in Bristol BATH ST.

Football, Basketball, Boxing, Wrestling, Bowling and Other Sporting Events Are Featured Daily For The Local Follower and Lover of Sport

MINTZINGER QUICKLY OUTBOXES SIMS AT ARENA

CROYDON, Oct. 29.—With a vicious body attack, Robert Mintzinger, a Cheltenham welterweight, made short work of William Sims, a tall colored lad from the Sigma Theta A. C., in the feature bout at the Daggett Club's weekly amateur boxing show held in the arena, last night, before a disappointing crowd. It took exactly 50 seconds from the opening bell for Mintzinger to batter the South Philadelphia into submission.

The program was replete with knockouts. In the bout with James Frazier, William Casey, of Kensington, took such a drubbing that the referee stopped the fight in the second round to save the Kensingtonian from serious injury. The same thing happened in the scrap between Robert Still and Samuel Solomon. Still received such a severely cut eye that he lost on a technical knockout in the third round.

Phillip Haywood, of the Arena A. C., knocked out Edward McGairity, Shackamaxon Club, in the second round, with a shower of rights to the jaw. McGairity didn't have a chance with the husky Arena battler, and took the 10 count early in the second round.

William Rinnick, a hard-battling lightweight from the Cheltenham Club, who would take a couple of punches to land one, knocked out George Williams of Sigma Theta in the second round, with a right to the mid-section that didn't travel twelve inches. Rinnick, purely an infighter, worked on Williams' tummy from the opening bell and put the colored boy away without much difficulty.

Arthur Whalen, East Side lightweight, won the decision in three fast rounds over Michael O'Brien, a Shackamaxon boy. William Blade, far from the rip-roaring fighter of three weeks ago, just won the decision over Joseph Staffieri, a Daggett Club entry, in three rounds. William Leighton, Croydon, lost in three rounds to Joseph Diadato, another Daggett youth. The Philadelphia had to step fast to gain the judges' verdict.

BOWLING RESULTS

| AMERICAN LEAGUE | | | | |
|-----------------|-----|-----|-----|-----|
| J. A. C. | 100 | 178 | 157 | 435 |
| Kendig | 169 | 159 | 167 | 495 |
| Hughes | 153 | 232 | 169 | 554 |
| Tomlinson | 164 | 183 | 165 | 512 |
| Purcell | 159 | 184 | 147 | 490 |

| | | | | |
|---------------|-----|-----|-----|------|
| Bristol Diner | 745 | 936 | 805 | 2486 |
| Milnor | 136 | 135 | 158 | 429 |
| Chile | 135 | 158 | 129 | 422 |
| Walt | 126 | 163 | 135 | 424 |
| Stan | 156 | 166 | 131 | 453 |
| Kundira | 182 | 184 | 188 | 554 |
| Korkel | 212 | 162 | 203 | 577 |

| | 821 | 833 | 815 | 2469 |
|-----------------|-----|-----|-----|------|
| NATIONAL LEAGUE | | | | |
| Rohm & Haas | | | | |
| Lefferts | 157 | 156 | 168 | 481 |
| Gift | 118 | 131 | 164 | 413 |
| Gilbert | 133 | 112 | 124 | 389 |
| Duffy | 97 | 114 | 119 | 240 |
| Moore | 158 | 148 | 116 | 422 |
| Nichols | 130 | 130 | 120 | 380 |

EMILIE

Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, Sr., Mrs. George Baker, Jr., Miss Rose Baker were Thursday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harvey, Fallington.

Harry Vandegrift, Jr., has returned to his home from Arizona.

Mrs. Prevost was a Tuesday luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Smith, Philadelphia, and was a Wednesday guest of her aunt, Miss Gertrude Van Pelt, Chestnut Hill.

BENSALEM OWLETS WIN OVER BRISTOL JUNIORS

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 29.—In a well-played game on Bensalem field, Coach Frank Meyer's Bensalem High Owlets defeated the Bristol Junior High team to the tune of 9-6. Bensalem scored all of their points in the second quarter when Pat Fitzgerald blocked a kick for a safety and Bob Scarborough ran back a short Bristol kick for a touchdown. Villus added the extra point on a plunge.

Bristol scored early in the fourth quarter on a long pass and a 40-yard run for a touchdown.

This Saturday the Bensalem Varsity will journey to Hatboro and engage the high school team of that place.

Score by quarters:
Bensalem 0 9 0 0—9
Bristol 0 0 0 6—6

BUNNIES PREPARE FOR NORTH COVENTRY ELEVEN

By Louis Tomlinson

Once again the Bristol Bunnies will attempt to overcome the jinx of defeating a Philadelphia suburban football team, when they stack up against the strong North Coventry team of Montgomery County on the local field Saturday afternoon.

Last year the Cardinals played two extremely tough teams in Cheltenham and Conshohocken, both of Philadelphia Suburban, but succumbed to each by a single touchdown. The final scores read 6-0, 13-7, respectively. Another Philadelphia Suburban eleven tied the Bunnies, 12-12, that being Ridley Township. This year the Red and Gray boys journeyed to Abington, still another Philadelphia Suburban squad, and dropped a 13-7 decision to the Galloping Ghosts. The last time Bristol took over a Philadelphia team was in 1934 when they toppled LaSalle, 12-0, at the Phillies Ball Park.

And now they will match wits with an even tougher opponent in the Montgomery Countyites, who come here with a good record, and hope to maintain it by tumbling the fast-stepping Bunnies to their second reverse of the season. They are in prime condition, and are confident of returning home with the Bunnies "in the bag."

Coach Dougherty and his boys, on the other hand, have a feud to settle with all Montgomery County teams, and hope to take revenge on North Coventry. What is the reason for the feud? It hasn't to do with football, but several seasons ago Bristol won the Bucks County championship; they invaded Montgomery Co. to meet the kings of that League, who happened to be Pennsburg, and Bristol lost a thriller and heart-breaker in an overtime period by a single point, 25-24. They have never forgotten that bitter pill they were forced to swallow, therefore, they hope to take revenge on North Coventry—to give the boys from Montgomery County a dose of their own medicine.

In preparation for the tilt the Bunnies are in tip-top shape, riding the crest of a four-game winning streak, and hope to add North Coventry to their list. This week Coach Dougherty has added a few more plays to their powerful and deceptive plays already in use. And these are even more deceptive! Coach believes they may completely baffle the visitors, if they are run correctly and without a flaw.

Yesterday afternoon, in a pep meeting, the student body showed they were fully behind Coach and the boys when they gave the squad a rousing ovation. In the meeting assistant Coach Bruce Gilliard of Penn State spoke in fiery tones in his belief that the Cardinals would come out on top and his and Coach's confidence in them. When he asked whether Bristol was going to win on Saturday, the answer came back "Yes!" with an intonation that literally shook the gym, followed by a tremendous applause that deafened one's ears.

DRIFTWOOD A. C. ELEVEN TO OPPOSE ST. ANN'S HERE

Football fans of this vicinity will have another opportunity to witness the splendid teamwork of the St. Ann's A. C. gridgers, Sunday afternoon, when the Purple and Gold returns to Landreth field to play the Driftwood A. C. team, of Philadelphia.

Last Sunday, Coach "Bill" Dougherty's minions gave the Doylestown Moose a lesson in blocking and handed them a lacing to the tune of 18-7, a beating which was heard all over the upper end of Bucks County and placed the St. Ann's team in the top rung for the county championship as it is playnig nothing but major opponents.

Coach Dougherty, with the addition of four more players last night, has a total of 33 players on the squad. He will keep this number for the Driftwood game but will use the ax next week and only carry 22 men for the game with Glenside, a team which hasn't been beat for four seasons. The St. Ann's management is also trying to arrange a tilt with the Cheltenham

Jayvees which has a record of 34 straight triumphs.

Two new players were outstanding in the practice session and will bolster the team considerably. They are "Henny" Kornstedt and "Jupes" Zeffries, brother to "Punkie" Zeffries, already a member of the squad. Kornstedt is a tackle and will take the place vacated by "Hank" Neindorf. Zeffries is a backfield star and played with the Bristol High team last season. Coach Dougherty will most likely use him at fullback.

The injuries sustained by "Sags" Sagolla and Joe Conti in the Doylestown tilt are not as bad as first reported and both will be in uniform to play against the strong Driftwood club. "Moony" Denny is still nursing an injured knee and it is a question mark as to whether he will play or not.

Driftwood is one of the outstanding independent elevens in Philadelphia. They were barely nosed out by Mayfair Archives which beat St. Ann's, 31-6, and held the unbeaten Cheltenham team to a 6-0 score. They have a heavy line which has been setting the opposition back all season and lost their two games on bad breaks.

EMILIE

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Butler have returned to Boston, Mass., after being guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Dietrick and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bender. Mr. and Mrs. Bender and guests were recent visitors of Mrs. Butler's parents at Stillwater.

Mrs. W. H. Wink, Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. Wink, Miss Gladys Wink were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, Fallington.

Lower Makefield Gives Records of Pupils

Continued from Page One

Borden, David Fitzcharles, Searle Welling, Robert Cooper, Peter Kuzma, John Scheese, Susan Fetter, Virginia Kauffman, Laura Carver, Ruth Bosley, Dorothy Kulikowsky, Elouise Worthington, Betty Schuster, Betty Rector.

Grade three, Richard Davis, Richard Cadwallader, Robert Billmont, Walter Foulke, John Guzikowski, Leo Johnson, Art Molnar, Louis Ruppert, Edgar Shawry, Charles Stackhouse, Alice Bosley, Doris Delaney, Ruth Hieber, Sadie McCormick, Edith Price, Lucille Thomas; third and fourth grades, Paul Rector, Miles Reed, Carmella Wall, Eva Mae Dansbury, Paul Cautajlo, Mary Wall, Frances Borden, Betty Patyol; fourth grade, David Marsh, Jean Dilliplane, Helen Farley, Betty Grundy, Marie Jackson, Ann Kauffman, Dorothy Ronaldo, Betty Ann Smith, Dorothea

Stubbs, Lola Titus, Abner Dansbury, William DeLaney, Evan Foulke, Arthur Scheese, Vincent Shawdys, Leo Smith, Harold Smith.

Grade five, Betty Delany, Dorothy Foulke, Lucille Oliver, Jean Smith, Mary Synik, Eleanor Worthington, Modena Hollingsworth, Bertha Guzikowski, Willet Carver, Alvin Ruppert, William Chapman, Robert Reed; grade six, Walter Farley, Robert Ruppert, John Price, David Koenitzer, Joseph Pavelchak, James Scheerer, Paul Palensky, Jack Schuster, Andrew Yakim, Alice Thorn, Elizabeth Smith.

The perfect attendance list at the Edgewood School includes:

Fifth and sixth grades, Hazel Burns, Mildred Lowe, Katherine Reed, Ellen um, Audrey McNabb, Oscar Smith, Smith, Marie Worrell; grade ten, Rose Raymond Smith, Anna Walton, John Clark, Vincent Leedom, Betty Marger- Wright.

Grade eight, Elizabeth Bodo, Evelyn Borden, Arthur Bosley, Harry Cadwallader, Laura Cadwallader, Edward Delany, Stephen Escher, Dorothy Farley, Marie McNabb, Eleanor Prince, Myrtle Smith, Alice Stackhouse, Bobby Woodward.

Grade nine, David Cooper, Harry Delany, Nom. Hand,

Quality and Service

is our constant aim — to give you the finest quality foods, the very best service, and always at the best possible price.

Fancy Fresh Killed Roasting Chickens 31c lb

| | |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------|
| Best Rib Roast . . . lb 27c | Legs Lamb lb 29c |
| Thick End Rib R'st, lb 24c | Shoulders Lamb . lb 22c |
| Best Chuck Roast . lb 24c | Rib Lamb Chops . lb 28c |
| Cross Cut Roast . lb 28c | Loin Lamb Chops . lb 38c |
| Soup Meat lb 12c | Breast Lamb . 3 lbs 25c |
| Rolled Veal Roast . lb 28c | Neck Ends Pork Loin 22c |
| Breast Veal lb 12c | Good Pork Chops . lb 24c |

| | |
|---------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| Iceberg LETTUCE 10c | Fresh SPINACH lb 5c |
| Fancy bunch CELERY 9c | Fresh BEETS 3 bns 10c |
| Large CAULIFLOWER . . 10c | Fresh CARROTS . . 3 bns 10c |

JOHN F. WEAR

PHONE 2612 BATH AND BUCKLEY STS.

STRAUS' ANNIVERSARY SALE ENDS SATURDAY NIGHT!

| | |
|---|--|
| Former $1.00 Ovaltine 49c | 35c Belfair Sanitary Napkins 10c |
| 75c Djer Kiss Sachet 49c | (Dozen in Package) |
| Pound Package Hershey Kisses . . 21c | All 5c Cigars, 6 for 25c; box 50, $1.98 |
| Pint Abbott's De-Luxe Ice Cream . 16c | 10c Woodbury Soap 7c |
| 35c Junis Face Cream 21c | 25c Unguentine Soap 2 for 15c |
| 50c Jergen's Lotion 29c | |
| 50c Phillips' Milk Magnesia 29c | |
| 50c Woodbury Cold Cream 29c | |
| 15c Marshmallow Sundae 10c | |
| 50c Phillips' Dental Cream 29c | |
| 7c Castile Soap 2c | |
| 75c Noxzema Skin Cream 39c | |

BE WISE - BUY WISE - ECONOMIZE AT

STRAUS

Cut Rate Store

WHERE THE THRIFTY BUY-SAVE & THRIVE

FREE--A SMALL PICTURE ALBUM

FOR YOUR KODAK SNAPSHOTS
BUY A ROLL OF FILMS HERE AND ASK FOR THIS FREE ALBUM

Straus' Cut-Rate

407 MILL STREET — NEXT TO AAP STORE

"LET'S GET HANES AND STAY HOME THIS WINTER!"

Don't be caught out on a limb when the snow starts to fly! Put on your "Winter-Front" today . . . get HANES Heavyweight Champion. The minute its velvety, warming nap curls against your skin, you'll feel your goose-pimples start to melt . . . and you won't freeze up all season!

When you've climbed into HANES, notice its trim fit. That's because it's knit and cut to the measure of your chest and trunk. And HANES elastic-knits the fabric with plenty of give and take. You can bend at the waist, raise your arms—HANES won't hold you back. See your HANES Dealer today.

HANES Union-Suits, as illustrated above, $1 up . . . Shirts and Drawers begin at 75c . . . Boys' Union-Suits, 75c . . . Merichild Waist-Suits, 75c . . . also WINTER SETS (the new shirt and knit shorts illustrated at left), 50c and 59c per garment. P. H. Hanes Knitting Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

HANES

THE ANTI-FREEZE UNDERWEAR
FOR MEN AND BOYS

It's our family's whiskey, neighbor—and neighbor, it's your price!

The same whiskey we Pennsylvania distillers drink ourselves!

Considering its mild and pleasant taste, it's not so odd that folks are asking for The Wilken Family Blended Whiskey.

AT ALL STATE STORES

Copyright 1936, Jos. S. Finch & Co., Inc., Schenley, Pa.

THE WILKEN FAMILY
BLENDED WHISKEY

86.8 proof. The straight whiskies in this product are 15 months or more old. 25% straight whiskey; 75% grain neutral spirits. 5% straight whiskey 4 years old; 20% straight whiskey 15 months old.

SUPERVISED BY THE WILKEN FAMILY

Radio Patrol

LISTEN—I'M NOT KIDDING YOU... THIS IS THE HARE! HE STOLE THIS POLICE CAR... HE'S KNOCKED OUT BY HIS OWN GAS GUN AND THERE'S MY DOG KATIED TOO... IF YOU TIE HIM UP BEFORE HE COMES TO AND HELP ME TO HEADQUARTERS WITH HIM YOU'LL MAKE THE FIRST PAGE

IT ALL SOUNDS VERY GOOFY TO ME, BUT I'LL TAKE A CHANCE... I HOPE YOU'RE RIGHT ABOUT THIS... WAIT'LL I GET SOME ROPE.

AN' LISTEN, KID—IF THIS BIRD TURNS OUT TO BE A COP, I'LL DRAG YOU BEHIND MY TRUCK THROUGH EVERY DETOUR IN THE STATE—AN' I KNOW SOME TOUGH ONES..

EDDIE SULLIVAN and CHARLIE SCHMIDT